Truman Returns To U.S. With Plans On Post-Korea Period

Disclosures Based On MacArthur Talk Coming In Tuesday Broadcast

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

HONOLULU (AP)—President Truman is flying back to the mainland today to report on his meeting with Gen. MacArthur. World capitals still are puzzled over the significance of the rendezvous on Wake Island.

Aides said the President is devoting extraordinary time and care to the major foreign-policy address he will make in San Francisco Tuesday night.

(Truman's speech will be carried, starting at 8:30 p.m. P.S.T., on the Trans-Canada network of the C.B.C.)

While he will preface his talk with a reference to his conference with MacArthur on the barren far Pacific island as a move to help the Far East find peace, there has been no indication he will elaborate greatly on the Wake Island statement.

The statement, signed by the President and initialed by the United Nations Supreme Commander, followed their talk of less than three hours.

Actually the most important phase of it was the hour Truman and MacArthur spent alone in a quonset hut before they went into conference with military and diplomatic advisers.

The statement gave no hint of any far-reaching new decisions such as many had speculated might grow out of the 14,000-mile round-trip flight.

In fact, one top policy adviser of Truman's said the President primarily "wanted to talk to Gen. MacArthur face to face" about Far East problems and added: "After all, he had never seen the general and thought he should."

But some unprecedented and complex situations are involved in the "steps necessary to bring peace and security" to Korea which Truman says he and MacArthur discussed.

For the first time, a segment of the Communist empire is being removed from Russia's grasp. The procedure followed in North Korea may become a pattern should the fringes of the Russian empire start crumbling elsewhere.

The surrender and occupation problems in Korea are only some of those which Truman presumably laid in MacArthur's lap during the few hours the two men talked on Wake Island.

Apparently the President impressed the Far Eastern commander the necessity for plans to shift some of the military power built up for the Korean war to the United States and to the menacing situation in Europe.

R.C.A.F. Opens Search For Missing Hunters

EDMONTON (CP)—The fate of five hunters of geese who disappeared Saturday on an airplane flight over northern Alberta's wild timber and muskeg country remained a mystery today as the R.C.A.F. sent up a squadron of 12 search planes.

The missing plane, piloted by Harry Pennington, 33, of Vancouver, left Grande Prairie, Alta., on a 250-mile non-stop flight to Edmonton which was to have taken two hours. After it had failed to arrive, an immediate communications check of points along its intended route revealed no one had seen it.

A daylight search Sunday by five planes and a night sweep by another two looking for flares or camp fires gave negative results.

Also aboard the twin-engine civilian aircraft were Harry Morton, about 40, of Vancouver, and Joseph Dory, 42; James Mulcahy, 31, and Stewart Reid, 30, all of Edmonton. The hunters were well equipped with sleeping bags, clothing and rifles. They were returning from an expedition.

Two-thirds of the country along the plane's route is unsettled. Scrub timber, muskeg and rolling hills abound.

Today's search by the 12 R.C.A.F. planes—six of them arrived here from Vancouver Sunday night—was concentrated on a "high probability" area 128 miles long and 80 miles wide, starting 64 miles northwest of Edmonton. At the time the civilian twin-engine Cessna was airborne, low clouds hung over this region and icing conditions prevailed from 1,000 to 7,000-foot altitudes.

Clear, sunny skies cover the area today, making searching conditions good.

Police Wonder If Truck Had Driver

City police were checking today to determine if this wood truck, owned by Sarban Singh, 723 Market Street, was driven by someone or was a runaway. At 3.55

Sunday afternoon it crashed through fence at 718 Caledonia Avenue, over wooden sidewalk and into house, damaging porch and corner post.

Strike Fails To Stop Canada's Arms Output

TORONTO (CP)—Some 280 members of the United Mine Workers (C.C.L.) today staged a one-day strike at the suburban Long Branch plant of Canadian Arsenal's small arms division in protest against federal government refusal to recognize the union. The Long Branch workers also seek a general wage increase of 15 cents an hour.

Pickets from the union's Local 13524 marched in front of the gates when the 8 a.m. E.D.T. shift was due to report for duty. Col. W. P. Leavens, manager of the government-owned plant, said later that some workers, especially toolmakers and office clerks, had crossed the picket lines.

An additional 50 workers assembled near the gates but did not try to cross the lines.

Eight Toronto Township police watched proceedings.

U.S. Newsprint Firms Warned Over Price Rise

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Rep. Emmanuel Celler (D., N.Y.), threatened today to demand prosecution of U.S. newsprint companies if they follow the lead of a Canadian concern by making a "completely unjustified" price boost.

The chairman of the House Judiciary committee said an advance in newsprint prices from $100 to $110 a ton announced by the Powell River Paper Co., at Vancouver, B.C., "undoubtedly will be followed by all newsprint companies both in the United States and Canada."

"This is nothing but a price squeeze," Celler said, "and if the American companies do follow suit I am going to ask President Truman to exercise his power under the Defence Production Act to provide for cut-backs."

He added he would ask Attorney-Gen. J. Howard McGrath to prosecute the firms both criminally and civilly "because there is a palpable violation of the law."

New Chief For Reserve Brigade

OTTAWA—Lieut.-Col. Donald MacGillivray Clark, E.D., 35, of Vancouver, has been promoted to the rank of brigadier and appointed to command the 15th Infantry Brigade, Reserve Force, Defence Minister Brooke Claxton announced today. Headquarters of the brigade are in Vancouver. The appointment was previously held by Brig. John M. Rockingham, who now commands the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade, Canadian Army Special Force.

Brig. Clark, born in Vancouver, is a son of Brig. J. A. Clark, who is honorary colonel of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada and commanded that unit in the First Great War. He joined his father's regiment in 1936 on graduation from the Royal Military College and served in it overseas.

which now produces shotguns. The union was told in a letter from Trade Minister Howe last week that workers with grievances could take them up individually with the plant management.

The plant was exempted from the provisions of the federal labor code by an order-in-council passed three years ago.

In a statement issued two hours after the strike had started, Col. Leavens said 60 per cent of the hourly-rated employees were at work and that the entire staff of the tool room was on the job. He said production was only slightly reduced but not interrupted and "everything is quiet and peaceful."

French Flee Another Post In Indo-China

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—The French today announced abandonment of still another post on the China-Indo-China frontier—the small outpost of Nacham.

A military spokesman said the Nacham garrison had withdrawn nine miles southeast of Dong Dang, last major French position before the frontier headquarters fortress of Langson, six miles farther to the southeast.

The spokesman said evacuation of Nacham had been accomplished without important fighting. Other French sources said Communist-led Viet Minh troops had occupied Nacham following the French withdrawal.

The report of the abandonment of the post came as French officials said privately it soon might be necessary to withdraw French forces from all posts on the Chinese frontier. In the last month the French have abandoned the posts of Donkhe, Caobang and Thatke, leaving about 300 miles of the Chinese frontier open to traffic by the Viet Minh to and from supply and training points in Communist China.

As the fall of the frontier positions continued, a spokesman said some civilians already are evacuating Langson by air and road.

Die-Hard Enemy Units May Prolong Conflicts

By REIMAN MORIN

TOKYO (AP)—Allied troops plunged today toward the flatland approaches to the Communist Korean capital of Pyongyang and possibly the last major battle of the war.

The drive for Pyongyang was turning into a race between South Korean 1st Division troops and the American 1st Cavalry Division.

The U.S. foot troopers smashed 12 miles before noon Monday. They fought through stubborn resistance to Sinmak, only 46 air miles from Pyongyang. They kicked off at dawn from Namchonjon.

Almost due north, South Korean division elements were in Suan, only 40 air miles from the capital.

AP correspondent Jack MacBeth, with the South Koreans, said they "broke into a run" for Pyongyang. American tanks led their thrusting column.

There were signs the Red Korean army was crumbling rapidly. But large units still under the firm control of commissar-type officers resisted fiercely at some points.

Military circles in Tokyo freely predicted the war would be over in a few weeks. They expected major fighting to end with the fall of Pyongyang. However, a campaign to mop up Red army fragments could drag throughout the winter.

The high mark of the Allied drive northward is expected to be the chase of fleeing Red troops toward the explosive Manchurian and Siberian borders.

While the four Allied columns drove toward Pyongyang, Gen. MacArthur had ample additional troops to throw at the faltering Reds wherever he chose to hit them.

Speculation was rife that MacArthur, back from his Wake Island conference Sunday with President Truman, had the signal to throw everything at the remaining Reds.

Prisoners in large numbers were gathered by the advancing troops. The total held by United Nations forces mounted to 65,000. Some, taken from the North Korean 19th Division, estimated that 20 per cent of the original number had deserted before going into battle.

Communist Forces Split As U.N. Drive Gains Speed

From a military point of view, confusion and disorganization appeared to be spreading rapidly in the Communist ranks.

One force, dispersed after a brief engagement with the U.S. 24th Division near Yonan, 50 miles northwest of Seoul, fled toward the south and certain encirclement.

Escape routes for the Communists were open to the north of Pyongyang in the west and Hungnam on the east coast.

One east coast force, accused of executing 800 South Korean prisoners near Wonsan and Yonghung, raced northward with 100 American prisoners.

A South Korean survivor of the mass execution said he heard the North Koreans plotting to take the American prisoners to Manchuria.

The pattern of fighting over the whole war front was one of spotty resistance. At some points South Koreans were impeded only by mined roads and at others the North Koreans fought bitterly, then fled into hills.

Both the South Korean 1st Division at Suan and the American 1st Cavalry Division at Namchonjon were approaching the southern ends of mountain passes that lead to open country beyond.

Once they have reached the flats, MacArthur's spokesman said, the advance is expected to proceed more rapidly. There will be fewer places of concealment for the Reds.

Oil Company Reveals Drop In Gas Prices

TORONTO (CP)—Imperial Oil Ltd. today announced reductions in the wholesale prices of gasoline, kerosene, and light fuel oils due to the increased foreign exchange value of the Canadian dollar.

Gasoline and kerosene wholesale prices were cut seven-tenths of a cent in Ontario and the prairie provinces, and four-tenths of a cent in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

Furnace, stove and other light fuel oils were reduced half a cent a gallon in Ontario and the prairies and two-tenths of a cent in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

The company said appreciation of the Canadian dollar in terms of other currencies resulted in lower costs for crude oil and imports. Higher ocean freight rates necessitated the smaller reductions in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

Reds Flee With 1,000 American War Captives

U.S. Task Force Sent In Pursuit

By WILLIAM CHAPMAN

YONGHUNG, North Korea (UP)—An American-led task force raced west today toward Pyongyang, capital of North Korea, in an attempt to save an estimated 1,000 U.S. war prisoners from possible slaughter by their Communist captors.

Fears for the safety of the Americans were aroused by the discovery of the mutilated bodies of more than 500 South Korean war prisoners shot, bayoneted or burned in this east coast city by the retreating Reds.

The victims included 100 wounded or sick killed as they lay or knelt in a schoolhouse prison. A portrait of Soviet Premier Josef Stalin looked down on the carnage.

Civilian refugees reported Sunday that up to 1,000 American war prisoners had been seen in a railroad tunnel 17 miles west southwest of Yonghung, between Inhung and Songnae, three days earlier.

ALONG RAILWAY

There was little hope the Americans still were in the tunnel, but it was believed they might be found a little farther along the railway, which runs west to Pyongyang.

Col. Dick Emmerich of New Ulm, Minn., senior American military adviser to the South Korean 3rd Division, hurriedly arranged for South Korean troops to try to rescue the American prisoners.

Three truckloads of Infantry, led by Maj. Malcolm Smith, 32, of Altadena, Calif., senior adviser to the South Korean 26th Regiment, set off along the railway late Sunday.

Israel Heads
For Election

JERUSALEM (CP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion proposed today that elections be held to solve Israel's first cabinet crisis.

Ben-Gurion said in an address before the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that a caretaker cabinet should hold office pending an election.

Ben-Gurion resigned Sunday night after three religious-bloc members in his outgoing cabinet had told him they were withdrawing from the government because they did not like a recent cabinet change proposed in the face of Israel's financial plight.

Later President Chaim Weizmann—after consulting all party leaders—asked Ben-Gurion to form a new cabinet for presentation to the Knesset.

Missing Hunters' Plane
Spotted Near Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—A yellow aircraft, similar to a missing plane with five hunters aboard, was reported today to have flown over Smith, 110 miles northwest of here, late Saturday afternoon.

The report, telephoned to R.C.A.F. search headquarters here by Donald Lane of Smith, is being checked by an Expediter plane which took off from Edmonton this morning.

The missing plane, piloted by Harry Pennington, 33, of Vancouver, left Grande Prairie, Alta., late Saturday on a 250-mile non-stop flight to Edmonton for a game-hunting excursion.

A yellow plane was spotted over Smith, 85 miles north of the direct route, an hour later. R.C.A.F. officials said the plane could have reached the area by that time.

Lane said the plane was heading for Edmonton at low altitude. The weather was spotty. Lane said a former R.C.A.F. man at Smith had identified the plane as a twin-engine low-wing monoplane. This is the description of the missing Cessna Crane.

The R.C.A.F., which has 12 planes in the air on the second day of the search, dispatched a slow-flying plane to make a "track crawl" of the Northern Alberta Railway line between here and Smith. The plane started to sweep an area five miles on each side of the track.

HEARD PLANE

The air force received another report from George Myer, who lives on an island in Island Lake, 50 miles northwest of Athabasca, that an airplane was heard flying over there during a storm at 8.15 p.m. M.S.T. The craft was not seen, but the sound indicated it was low and flying south.

Air force officials said the missing plane could have been in

Three Ridings
Choosing M.P.'s

OTTAWA (CP)—This is election day in one of Ontario's and two of Quebec's federal constituencies.

In the Ontario constituency of Welland and in the Quebec constituencies of Rimouski and Montreal-St. Mary's the voters are electing three for the House of Commons.

There are 12 candidates seeking office in the by-elections—four in Welland, five in Montreal-St. Mary's and three in Rimouski. The polls will close at 8 p.m. E.S.T.

The seats all returned Liberal candidates in the general election of 1949, when the Liberal Party gained an overwhelming majority of the Commons seats.

The Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. Parties have candidates only for the Welland seat. The Liberals are contesting all three by-elections and are opposed by a variety of independent candidates in the Quebec constituencies.

STARTS CRUMBLING

There were signs the Red Korean army was crumbling rapidly. But large units still under the firm control of commissars—type officers, resisted fiercely at some points.

MAYOR CRACKS RIBS IN ROMPING GRANDPA ROLE

Trying to amuse his grandchildren can sometimes be as hard on a mayor as trying to please the electorate.

Just ask Mayor Percy George today who is nursing two cracked ribs after a playful romp with two of his many grandchildren.

"Both the children and I got too enthusiastic," laughed the mayor.

"I became young again, or thought I did, and was doing some calisthenics on the floor with the children assisting."

Despite the neuralgia-like pain, His Worship has kept to his mayoral desk since first realization about mid-week that all was not well with his ribs.

Like the arena clock, however, they are in the process of repair.

NELSON (CP)—Fourteen women Doukhobor prisoners being transferred to Kingston, Ont., penitentiary were nude when they boarded the eastbound train here Sunday night.

They had refused to sign pledges to obey Canadian laws and carried their clothes in boxes and bags.

The train stopped behind the provincial jail to take the women aboard a special coach.

Last month, 395 Doukhobors serving sentences for nude parading were released. They agreed to behave themselves.

HIGHER TAXES FOR CANADIANS IN 1951Finance Minister Abbott Hints Increase; Freeing Of Dollar Defence Move For Future

WHITEFIELD, N.H. (CP)—Prospects of higher taxation for Canadians next year were indicated today by Finance Minister Abbott.

Federal expenditures in the next fiscal year will be "considerably greater" than this year, Mr. Abbott said in an address before the Savings Bank Association of Connecticut.

The minister referred only briefly to the budget prospects, declaring he hopes the tax increases in his baby budget of Sept. 7 will put the government in position to "take whatever further steps might be necessary" to meet the expected higher expenditures next year.

Dealing with Canada's remaining import restrictions, he said Trade Minister Howe now is preparing to "take whatever further steps might be necessary" to meet the expected higher expenditures next year.

Of Canadian exports, he declared goods produced for sale to the United States will continue to have a high priority in the Dominion. He hoped the U.S. would increase the volume of its Canadian purchases.

Mr. Abbott, describing government exchange measures including the recent freeing of the dollar, said Canada is maintaining exchange control as a defence against possible future adverse conditions.

But actual restrictions would be few and would consist largely of maintaining control over export of capital by Canadian residents and over security transactions between residents and non-residents.

There was little hope the American still were in the tunnel, but it was believed they might be found a little farther along the railway, which runs west to Pyongyang.

Fears for the safety of the Americans were aroused by the discovery of the mutilated bodies of more than 500 South Korean war prisoners shot, bayoneted or burned in this east coast city by the retreating Reds.

Truman Flies Home With Post-Korea Period Plans

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
HONOLULU (AP)—President Truman was flying back to the mainland today to report on his meeting with Gen. MacArthur on Wake Island as world capitals still puzzled over the significance of that Pacific rendezvous.

The President's plane, the Independence, left Hickman Field, Honolulu, for San Francisco at 6:28 a.m. (9:28 p.m. P.D.T.), and the Dewdrop, carrying his top advisers, departed five minutes later. The flight to San Francisco requires about nine hours.

Aides said the President is devoting extraordinary time and care to the major foreign-policy address he will make in San Francisco Tuesday.

(Truman's speech will be carried, starting at 8:30 a.m. P.S.T., on the Trans-Canada network of the C.B.C.)

Government Favors
Cutting 1949 Boost

Gasoline price decrease in the offing for B.C. probably will be one and a half cents a gallon.

A one-and-a-half-cent increase was made in September, 1949, due to devaluation, and although the Canadian dollar hasn't gone to par since it was freed two weeks ago, removal of the full increase is favored in government quarters.

"A return to par is expected sooner or later and the full cut might as well be made now instead of making a reduction in relation to the present rate of exchange with a further reduction when par is reached," a top-rank official commented.

The cut in gas prices probably won't be made this week as previous reports indicated.

The Coal and Petroleum Control Board is awaiting advice from the oil companies before making a recommendation to the provincial cabinet and this is longer coming than expected.

(TORONTO (CP)—Imperial oil Ltd. today announced reductions in the wholesale prices of gasoline, kerosene, and light fuel oils due to the increased foreign exchange value of the Canadian dollar.

FISH MAY SOON COST
'LITTLE MORE'

The sudden drop in the price of meat will not bring down the price of fish, as many housewives hoped.

"As a matter of fact," one fish dealer commented today, "fish may soon cost a little more."

He pointed out this year's salmon season was just about over and frozen fish would soon replace fresh fish in the markets. Frozen fish, because of the extra handling involved, costs more.

Cod, sole and halibut, he thought, would stay about the same price.

VICE-ADMIRAL H. T. W.

After having visited Canadian destroyers in the Korean war theatre, Vice-Admiral H. T. W. Grant, Chief of Naval Staff, is due to arrive in Victoria Tuesday morning.

The admiral will spend a day and a half at the navy's Esquimalt base and then return to Ottawa by air.

The admiral has just flown back from Tokyo in an R.C.A.L. Pacific transport plane. Today he was en route from Tacoma, Wash., to Vancouver. He will come to Victoria on the Vancouver night boat.

Former X.O. Of Robert Retires

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy today announced the retirement of Capt. Geoffrey B. Hope, O.B.E., 56, of Victoria and Ottawa, assistant chief of naval technical services at headquarters here. Capt. Hope is succeeded by Cmdr. John B. Roper, 47, of Ottawa, who was his deputy.

Born in England, Capt. Hope served in the Royal Navy from 1906 to 1919, was appointed executive officer of the auxiliary cruiser, Prince Robert, during World War II and later served in Newfoundland.

Cmdr. Roper, born in North Carolina, joined the R.C.N. Volunteer Reserve in 1939 and held various posts at headquarters since.

The term will begin immediately and be consecutive to a three-month sentence Umphrey was serving when he sawed his way through a kitchen window at Regina jail Oct. 8. He was taken into custody a few hours later.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

PURELY PERSONAL

IT IS A LONG TIME since I saw a copy of that erudite dispensary of mental provender, The Saturday Review of Literature. So when I happened across one the other day I turned first, I am ashamed to say, not to its literary reviews but to its diverting "personal" column.

For in that advertising section which, to quote the lines beneath its caption, is open to "communications of a decorous nature"—among other things—the misfits and mismated, the extroverts and introverts air their yearnings at the rate of 30 cents a word and, incidentally, provide amusement for her who reads and runs.

LAWYER AND GOVERNMENT

AND WHO could resist a chuckle at the following $15-worth of tongue-in-cheek trivia, which is typical:

Young gentleman seeks correspondence with enlightened, lively girl who can discuss with him the fields of government and writing and laugh objectively at the frustrations besetting our endeavors. Although of humble background and a child at heart, he has shown modest accomplishments in writing and as a lawyer with the government. Box—

My thrifty soul couldn't help feeling that his $15 might have been saved had he known of the existence of the perfect soul-mate, politics and all, for his frustrated ego, as exemplified in this blurb that appeared just above his ad:

"Vibrant woman, warm personality, interested books, music, current events, progressive politically, sense of humor, invites male correspondence. Box—"

LONG-HAIRED LITERATI

CAN'T YOU just see this long-haired literati, all ready with his little lantern, looking for a lass in the lush lanes of Manhattan?

"Poet-Diogenes (typewriter a-poised) seeks one female, creatively inclined, knowing best books, socialist, loving nature, intellectually adventurous, dishing Philistine cities. Box—"

Or take this impassioned appeal from some mooning Taz-zan who, probably tired of hopping from tree to tree, aims at higher flights—but not alone:

"Nature-boy rebels against psychotic earth-civilization, but trains to Mars not yet running. Would correspond with untroubled earth-lass who loves the simple life. Box—"

LONELY HEART STUFF

THERE ARE times when I yearn to run a "Lonely Hearts" bureau for the sole use of the advertisers of the S.R.L. personal column. For instance, these two must have been made for each other, so well are they matched mentally:

"Semi-intellectual bachelor, veteran, ardent and unadorned, seeks mail from pert femme on how to stop worrying and start living. Box—"

"Lady of intermittent intelligence, charm and discrimination, accustomed to the fun and stimulation of masculine companionship, anticipates hearing from gentleman of character, accomplishment, liberal outlook. Box—"

And I have a feeling that the next two could be persuaded to swallow bait in the shape of fried trout, beach barbecues and opera, to their mutual advantage:

"Young woman who usually travels extensively, lonely, but not bored. Will gentlemen who likes books, music and steaks on the beach come to rescue via correspondence? Box—"

"Young physician would correspond with gal interested fresh-water fishing and Mozart opera. Box—"

EQUALITY OF EGO

BUT IT ISN'T only the male misfits who patronize the paid "personals" of the S.R.L. The female of the species is much to the fore, too, and judging by some of the blurbs, is even deadlier than the male! So the gay so-much-per-line Lotharios who haunt the S.R.L. columns have a variety to choose from in the shape of prospective pen-pals. They range all the way from this:

"High school marm will swap brainwaves with male correspondent. Interested in anything relating to the Human Comedy. Box—" to the lady who archly advertises her apparently rapidly fading charms thus:

"It is later than I thought, Gracious, versatile lady desires correspondence from mature, understanding males. Box—"

Which makes me wonder if the S.R.L. composition made a mis-punctuation, and the advt. should have read: "It is later than I thought, Gracious!"—etc.

Home Planned For Senior Citizens In Comox District

COURTENAY—A campaign to raise $20,000 for purchase of 56 acres of land on the Back Road to Comox and alterations to an existing building for an upper Vancouver Island senior citizens' home, will be staged in the area from Parksville to Sayward. The property at present belongs to Brig. K. D. Marsland.

Decisions were reached at a meeting of Courtenay and District Senior Citizens' Home Committee in Native Sons' Hall at which T. A. Menzies, president, was in the chair.

Purchase of land and the alterations will cost an estimated $30,500, but the provincial government will contribute one-third the capital costs.

Stone-Throwing Lads Problem For Police

By ROY THORSEN

Five rather frightened juveniles, aged between 14 and 17, one of them a girl, were taken to Saanich police station at Royal Oak Sunday night, after a resident had reported seeing them throw rocks and smash one of the newly-installed lights at Oak Mount and Cook Street.

After receiving the telephone call, Sgt. Jack Hamilton radioed to Const. Walter Mycock, who caught up with the quintette.

Ottawa Protest On Excluding Indians

A protest will be made to the federal government by the Indian Arts and Welfare Society against the present educational facilities of British Columbia Indians, it was announced today by Col. Gilbert Howland.

The basis of the society's protest is the exclusion of 12 Songhee children from the Craigflower Public School because of a provision in the Indian Act. The act says that native children must attend schools of their religious faith.

"Indians want the same educational facilities as the whites," said Col. Howland. "They are beginning to realize there is a big difference in the education of their children and the whites."

With regard to the school on the Esquimalt Indian reservation, Col. Howland said the children were not receiving a proper education there.

"There is only one classroom," he said. "One teacher has to teach children of all grades."

"Any full-blooded Canadian would object to the conditions in that school," he added.

The president of the society, which has been fighting to improve the citizenship rights of B.C. Indians, said it was time the Indian Act was "completely revised and Indians given a chance to improve their status as citizens."

NEW, MIRACLE! ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires.

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1450 West 18th Street, 510 C Belmont Building, Chicago 8, Ill. A penny postcard will do.

Farm Official Asks Margarine Boycott

Demand Follows Ruling; Sale Up To Provinces

OTTAWA (CP)—H. H. Hannam, head of the 400,000-member Canadian Federation of Agriculture, today called on farm families to stop buying margarine.

He issued a statement after the Privy Council upheld the Supreme Court of Canada ruling that the manufacture and sale of margarine in Canada was a matter purely for the provinces to decide.

It now is up to all governments in Canada to develop policies which would safeguard the dairy industry, he said. He added: "There also will be a responsibility on the part of the Canadian people generally, in their own interests, to support whatever policies are deemed best and not easily misled by the margarine interests who are making much larger profits on the manufacture and sale of margarine than are those who are making and selling butter."

All farm families in Canada could set an example in assuming this responsibility by purchasing no margarine.

Another dairy industry authority said the decision of the Privy Council might have some repercussions on the remainder of federal dairy legislation. Particularly as to whether Parliament should have jurisdiction over grading and inspection of dairy products.

HARD BATTLE
The decision by the Judicial Committee came as a climax to a long, hard-fought battle over whether the manufacture, sale and distribution of margarine should be made legal in Canada.

The decision apparently leaves the margarine question where it was when the Canadian court delivered its opinion in 1949. The effect of the Ottawa decision was to hand jurisdiction over margarine to the provinces, leaving

NO FALSE EFFECTS

Honest Photography Gets Judges' Nod

Straight, honest photography with no striving for false effect, got the nod every time as three judges made selections for the Tenth Annual International Victoria Salon of Photography, to be held Nov. 5-12 in Empress Hotel.

A total of 720 pictures from 180 contributors throughout the world were set up in the Williams Building on Broughton Street by the Victoria Camera Club which conducts the salon, under direction of Irvine Dawson.

In addition to composition, line, or mood a picture should have "artistic permanence," according to the judges.

"Would you want to live with it?" laughed B. Gray Warner, A.R.P.S., prominent Seattle lawyer who took time out from an election campaign for a Superior Court judgeship, to view entries, which he considered well above average.

"That picture for example," he said, "is simple, carries its message well and gets away from the commonplace."

Animal, baby and boat pictures which so often flood the salon market were at a good minimum, he felt.

catering department and Roger Kerkham of the Visual Education Branch, Department of Education, Vancouver, considered the calibre of entries high.

All three stressed that five photographers could get five different results from the same negative.

LIKE BRUSH TO AN ARTIST

"The camera to the photographer is like the brush to the artist—it is the means," said Mr. Warner. "It is in the developing that the technical skill is revealed."

The camera is very literal but it can also produce the figurative effect if it is handled with skill, he said.

Entries have been received from 20 countries including Czechoslovakia, Germany, Australia, China, England, Brazil, Spain and India.

"The aim of these salons is to show fine work and thus further and encourage good photography," said Mr. Kerkham.

Already selected for the salon are 186 color slides from a total of 512 contributed by 128 photographers. They were judged by Robert Fort, Bettie Kerkham and Norman Yarrow of Victoria.

Each print of color slide accepted by the jury will receive a sticker and those of outstanding merit will be awarded a Thunderbird Crest.

Mine Workers' Union Stages Strike At Canadian Arms Plant

TORONTO (CP)—Some 280 members of the United Mine Workers (C.C.L.) today staged a one-day strike at the suburban Long Branch plant of Canadian Arms' small arms division in protest against federal government refusal to recognize the union. The Long Branch workers also seek a general wage increase of 15 cents an hour.

Pickets from the union's Local 13524 marched in front of the gates when the 8 a.m. E.D.T. shift was due to report for duty. Col. W. P. Leavens, manager of the government-owned plant, said later that some workers, especially toolmakers and office clerks, had crossed the picket lines.

An additional 50 workers assembled near the gates but did not try to cross the lines.

Eight Toronto Township police watched proceedings.

Harry Hill, president of the union local, said the union negotiated for four months without obtaining recognition at the plant, which now produces shotguns. The union was told in a letter from Trade Minister Howe last week that workers with grievances could take them up individually with the plant management.

In a statement issued two hours after the strike had started, Col. Leavens said 60 per cent of the hourly-rated employees were at work and that the entire staff of the tool room was on the job. He said production was only slightly reduced but not interrupted and "everything is quiet and peaceful."

French Troops Abandon Another Indo-China Post

New Chief For Reserve Brigade

OTTAWA—Lieut.-Col. Donald MacGillivray Clark, E.D., 35, of Vancouver, has been promoted to the rank of brigadier and appointed to command the 15th Infantry Brigade, Reserve Force. Defence Minister Brooke Claxton announced today. Headquarters of the brigade are in Vancouver. The appointment was previously held by Brig. John M. Rockingham, who now commands the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade, Canadian Army Special Force.

Brig. Clark, born in Vancouver, is a son of Brig. J. A. Clark, who is honorary colonel of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, and commanded that unit in the First Great War. He joined his father's regiment in 1936 on graduation from the Royal Military College and served in it overseas.

A military spokesman said the Nacham garrison had withdrawn nine miles southeast of Dong Dang, last major French position before the frontier headquarters fortress of Langson, six miles farther to the southeast.

The spokesman said evacuation of Nacham had been accomplished without important fighting. Other French sources said Communist-led Viet Minh troops had occupied Nacham following the French withdrawal.

The report of the abandonment of the post came as French officials said privately it soon might be necessary to withdraw French forces from all posts on the Chinese frontier. In the last month the French have abandoned the posts of Donkhe, Caobang and Thatkhe, leaving about 300 miles of the Chinese frontier open to traffic by the Viet Minh to and from supply and training points in Communist China.

As the fall of the frontier positions continued, a spokesman said some civilians already are evacuating Langson by air and road.

THAT AWFUL NOISE!

It May Be Beautiful Music To Some People

"Our native peoples had music of a primitive type but some phases of it were highly developed," said Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum speaking to the Lions Club at the Empress Hotel Friday.

"When we study music we must take into consideration that what is pleasing to the ear of one race of people may sound like an awful noise to others," he said.

As the Indians had no written language their history was passed by word of mouth from one generation to another. Music was passed on the same way.

Many of the Indian songs now have no meaning because when some tribes intermarried or took slaves the songs became combined and some of the words garbled or lost, said the speaker.

The main characteristic of Indian music is the prominent rhythm said Dr. Carl. Much of the rhythm is the same as we have today, either 4-4 time or 3-4 time.

The Indians had four main types of music—story, dance, power and gambling. Dr. Carl said. The power music was usually composed by an Indian and belonged solely to him. Its prime function was to drive away evil spirits.

Gambling music was chanted by supporters of teams in various guessing games to try and distract the opposing team from winning.

Dr. Carl had various instruments used by Indians which he demonstrated to members of the club. He then played some tape recordings of dances by the Cowichan Indians.

'Very Complete Unanimity'

ONLY AFTER MR. TRUMAN HAS REPORTED on his discussion with General MacArthur will the world in general be in a position to assess the value of last Saturday's meeting between these two important figures on Wake Island. That they found it possible to transact all their business in less than two hours, that the President was able to say that the discussion had ended in "very complete unanimity"—a remarkable point since they had not met before—would seem to augur well for future policy in at least one of the Asiatic trouble spots.

It is fitting, moreover, that the President of the United States should have chosen the San Francisco Opera House to deliver a speech tomorrow night, the implications of which may mean much to the future of the world. For it was in that magnificent edifice, a trifle more than five years ago, that men and women of good will established the United Nations and evoked a new Charter for the conduct of the human race in international dealings. Though he could not claim any specific credit for the birth of the idea of this second attempt to commit the peoples of the world to another resolve to live in peace—it was conceived at Yalta by the political heads of the "Big Three"—the observations of Mr. Truman on the opening day in April, 1945, were noteworthy for their reflection of his intention to live up to the ideals of the chief executive whom he had succeeded two weeks earlier.

Much has happened since then. Russia has strayed from the path of peace and seems intent on continuing to run counter to all the decent designs and hopes of freedom-loving folk. It is unnecessary to recapitulate the incidents which furnished the springboard for North Korea's attack on the southern part of the Korean Peninsula. All the world's press has dealt with them in meticulous detail. Only the propaganda of the Kremlin has reiterated with monotonous regularity that the disturbance of the peace in that part of Asia was the product of American imperialism and the machinations of the financial barons of Wall Street. Intelligent folk in the satellite states behind the Iron Curtain, as well as in the Soviet Union, of course, know this is all poppycock.

In view of Saturday's discussion on Wake Island, therefore, and especially in anticipation of his speech in San Francisco tomorrow night which is expected to lift the curtain on policies agreed upon by Commander-in-Chief and the top military leader, the world will figuratively hang on the words that will flow from President Truman.

Chickens Coming Home To Roost

A YEAR OR TWO AGO, WHEN British buyers diverted lumber purchases from Canada to Scandinavian countries, they were cautioned that neglect of this Dominion's supply sources might, in turn, divert Canadian lumber to other receivers on contracts that could not be cancelled at a moment's notice. The point was made that Canada could not afford to wait idly on the pleasure of potential buyers in Britain. The warning was given—and repeated by The Times of London among others—that once the tap had been turned off against the inflow to Britain of this country's goods, it might not be possible to turn that flow on again when Britain needed it. What applied to lumber, applied to other commodities.

Justification for that warning is apparent in Britain today, where leading newspapers are criticizing the government for the cancellation, earlier this year, of newspaper contracts. Current newspaper shortages in Britain will bring rationing into effect Oct. 22. The once available supply from Canada has been channelled to the ever-ready United States market.

Apart entirely from the political capital the opposition press makes of the condition that has been created, the government faces the hard facts of inexorable economic and trading law. Much as Canadian sympathy may be extended to Britain, which the Daily Graphic says, "has the smallest newspapers in the world, and now further restrictions are to be imposed," the warning was given. With our dependence on trade, we cannot assume the role of a warehouse in which stockpiles are stored when the movement of commodities is vital to our existence.

Let There Be Justice—And Soon

THE LOCAL CONTROVERSY OVER the exclusion of certain Indian children from the Craigflower school is only part of a much larger problem regarding Canada's attitude toward the native population of this country. It is to be hoped that movements now under way will result in a complete overhaul of the constitutional and actual status of Indians in the Dominion, to the end that they may be enabled and encouraged to take the place in the modern world that so many of them are eager and fitted to take.

The particular question arising from the Craigflower situation appears to hinge on the wording and interpretation of the Indian Act. If a simple amendment is all that stands between need and justice, then that amendment should be forthcoming at the first opportunity. There is nothing satisfactory in a condition whereby an Indian mother must see her children discriminated against in the quest for education, must stand by and see the white children down the road become better trained for life and a livelihood than are her own youngsters.

We have done little enough for the original races from whom we wrested half a continent. The least we can do now is to see that our laws do not handicap their own efforts to raise their living standard and become better citizens.

Some Bits And Pieces

Revised: Men are what their public relations experts make them.

There is a limit to the weight the average human being can carry—that is, except the tax load.

Somehow or another the breath of scandal never needs a respirator.

"Poetry, not statistics, is the need of the times," says writer. We imagine she can support her claim with figures.

Truman Slaps Former Secretary With More Than Usual Weight

By BRUCE BLOSSAT From New York

SECRETARY of Defence Marshall has said many times he won't write his memoirs because too many people now living would suffer from the brutal truths he would have to tell. President Truman hasn't written his, either, but he has allowed himself to be liberally quoted on important events by Jonathan Daniels, North Carolina editor and former White House assistant. Some of those quotes do definite personal injury to James F. Byrnes, former senator, supreme court justice, war mobilizer and secretary of state, who now is running for governor of his home state, South Carolina.

In his new book, "The Man From Independence," Daniels quotes Mr. Truman as declaring that Byrnes "failed miserably" at the 1945 foreign ministers' conference in Moscow. Apparently the President felt Byrnes had gone too far in appealing Russia.

This is pretty harsh treatment for a man who has served his country in public life as long and faithfully as Byrnes.

Byrnes was comfortably employed on the Supreme Court when the last war broke out. At President Roosevelt's request, he gave up this lifetime post on the nation's most distinguished tribunal to become mobilizer on the home front. He then spent two years as Mr. Truman's first secretary of state, during the immediate postwar period which proved to be one of the most frustrating and trying times in American foreign affairs history.

It was in this period that the U.S. went through the painful adjustment to the fact that Russia, its wartime ally, did not wish to be a peacetime friend.

It was natural that before Americans finally accepted this fact they should have leaned over backward—at least to some degree—to find a sound basis for accord with their recent comrades in arms. In the light of later events, this course may look very unwise. But in the context of those times, it can be understood.

APPROACHES TASK

This was the spirit in which Byrnes approached his task of reaching post-war agreements with the Russians.

The President, of course, has a perfect right to believe that Byrnes fell down on the job, even after allowance is made for his background as a compromiser. But it seems cruel and unkind for him to declare himself publicly on this score when a personal hurt will plainly be inflicted.

History would not have suffered had the President's uncompromising views been withheld from public knowledge until Byrnes was no longer living.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

AT THIS season garden writers tell us how to prepare next year's garden. It makes useful reading, provided the writer has no intention of gardening. Anyone who reads this scientific advice and all the plant names in Latin is so depressed by the intricacies, the labor and the cost of a garden that he will never dare to take shovel in hand. For the information of the public I have read all the gardening books and articles and condensed their essentials in the following brief manual to prove that horticulture is really quite simple!

Hutchison

IN planting a rhododendron a space 30 ft. by 30 ft. should be dug to a depth of 7 ft. 6 inches and filled with oak leaf mould. This mould should have been rotted down for at least nine years, but the rotting process can be speeded up somewhat if you will jump on the leaf pile with a rhythmic motion or roll on it horizontally for an hour a day, which is excellent exercise for the leg and back muscles.

IF you lack leaf mould you must postpone planting rhododendrons until it is available. In that case it will be necessary to plant an oak tree. An acorn planted this fall will produce a tree in some 40 years. In planting oak trees a space 30 ft. by 30 ft. should be dug to a depth of 7 ft. 6 inches and filled with mould from decayed rhododendron leaves. (It will be simpler in the end, of course, if you lie down in the hole and cover yourself to the depth of 7 ft. 6 inches, with the addition of quick lime. This will make an excellent place later on for someone to plant a rhododendron.

IN the growing of London Pride (arnica grandiflora) St. John's Wort (Victoriana horizontalis) and Wild Bigamy, the soil should be well mulched with guano. But don't use ordinary seagull guano from the Pacific Islands which has a depressing effect on tender growth and gardeners. Use instead the guano of the Russian bunting owl, if that is obtainable, substitute that of the Yellow-bellied Sapsucker of New England or the Blue Tit of Northumberland, mixed with equal parts of camphor, myrrh and plutonium at the rate of three teaspoonsful to the acre. (Avoid cow manure, especially at night.)

Horse manure is essential to the culture of good roses and, in these days of automobiles, the wise gardener will keep a few horses, which require no attention but feeding, watering, brushing shoeing and exercise. No garden, of course, is complete without a goat and if you are a gardener you know who that is.

IN constructing an asparagus bed excavate to a depth of 7 ft. 6 inches for good drainage. As it will be difficult to drain a hole so deep a small electric pump should be installed, though a windmill will serve or a wife may be pleasantly employed with a hand pump. Twelve hours a day of pumping should be sufficient in a dry winter. Asparagus requires a rich soil and in it should be incorporated peat moss, epsom salts, household garbage and an alderman or two for extra goodness.

Water should never be sprinkled on the leaves of shrubs but applied directly to the soil underneath. While it requires a little extra trouble to crawl on hands and knees under shrubs with an open hose it is excellent exercise for the abdominal muscles. For this work a dwarf is handy.

TO cure weevils apply tea leaves, old razor blades and anything else you wish to dispose of. One cure is as effective as another since there is no cure for weevils. But they solve the disposal problem.

Under every plant of gypsophila, dahlia and hennip place a plover's egg. What else can you do with a plover's egg? Old-fashioned gardeners buried dead cats at the roots of jasmine (eczema gracilis) but this practice has been abandoned. Dead cats should be saved for the City Council. (Victoriana prostrata.) The old-fashioned but still the best spray for mildew is rye whisky. It may be safely used neat since Bill Kennedy diluted it. But be careful with strong liquors in the garden. A whiff of beer or loganberry wine can seriously damage roses or political party leaders.

USEFUL TIPS: Celery is hard on the soil and false teeth; infants fed on unripe cucumbers will cause no further trouble; parsnips are harmless when not eaten; toadstools in lawns can be disposed of effectively to blind friends who will take them for mushrooms; Dementia Praecox can be brought to full bloom by anyone who reads the daily news of the world; the only way to dispose of your apples is to pick them, grade them, wrap them in tissue paper, box them and deliver them, free, to your friends' doorsteps; squash and pumpkins which prematurely decay should be directly applied to neighbors who offer gardening advice over the fence; a careful account of garden expenditures will show that vegetable marrows can be produced for as little as $2.50 apiece and corn for not more than $4 an ear, and this accounting will prove a great economy as it will persuade any sensible man to garden no more; the experienced gardener will prepare for spring by tightly closing the garage doors, turning on the car engine, breathing deep and enjoying the first rest he has ever known.

The time has come to be realistic. We have tried to practice the golden rule. We have tried by persuasion to lead other countries into a peaceful way of life. Now we must act—George N. Craig, national commander of the American Legion.

HOSPITALS

Mrs. Hodges' recent article in "The Times" about hospital flowers, etc., was very amusing, particularly the "unmentionable," etc. However, the $64 question is how did she succeed in securing a bed in hospital?

Since our grand insurance scheme was started two members of my family have required treatment. In both cases we were told no room, so the patient had to go in winter weather, hang about, undress, dress again and then home to bed. This exhausting and dangerous procedure necessitated abandoning the prescribed treatment.

That did not save us from receiving hospital bills, so we paid twice over for no benefit. Is there any way of getting into either hospital other than election to Parliament or being taken in an ambulance when in danger of bleeding to death?

With yet another subscription now due I am most anxious to learn how to obtain the services for which we are compelled to pay more and more.

CHEST CAMPAIGN

At a meeting held Thursday evening of the Board of Directors of the Community Chest of Greater Victoria a resolution was passed expressing appreciation to all those concerned in the 1950 campaign and particularly to the co-chairman, the campaign director, the two newspapers and the two radio stations.

The members of the board wish not only to thank those connected with the drive, but also the general public of Greater Victoria and outlying districts for their generous response to the appeal. Those who constitute the Board of the Community Chest who administer the affairs of the Chest on a voluntary basis throughout the year, assure the public that the funds raised will be applied faithfully by them during the coming year in accordance with the budget settled by the finance committee, under the able chairmanship of Mr. W. Barclay, and that in due course a full public accounting will be made.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

Answering Mr. Jolly of Oct. 12, so far as I am aware it is pure conjecture whether or not "the coming conflict will be over before the H-bomb is perfected."

The various world news services have discussed at length on a more fearful and disastrous weapon than the atom bomb. As to its nature I am entirely ignorant. Let the scientists answer.

Regarding bacteriological warfare. It is well known that Russia, Britain and the U.S.A. are not discounting the possible use of this weapon and are preparing accordingly. Perhaps the following quotation from Zech. 14:12 will give a clue—"Their flesh shall consume away while they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall consume away in their holes, and their tongue shall consume away in their mouth." This does not apply to the forces of Christendom.

If one may hazard an opinion it seems to me that the Christian forces may not fight at all but that a duplicate miracle will be wrought like unto that in 896 B.C. when Jehoshaphat, King of Judah, was confronted with an overwhelming powerful combination of Moab, Ammon and Mount Seir. Sensing the futility of contesting the issue the Judeans invoked the aid of the Almighty. For a thriller of truth that is stranger than fiction read the 20th chapter and Second Chronicles and learn how "the children of Ammon and Moab stood up against the inhabitants of Mount Seir utterly to slay and destroy them, and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir every-one helped to destroy another."

Tito In Danger

By STEWART ALSOP, from Washington

WITHOUT help on a large scale very soon, mass starvation in Yugoslavia will set in by next February. The Tito regime is then entirely likely to succumb to the Kremlin's ferocious pressure. This is the real meaning of Secretary of State Dean Acheson's recent statement that some way must soon be found to get food to Yugoslavia. This crisis in Yugoslavia, which is as dangerous as the crisis in Greece in early 1947 which gave birth to the Truman Doctrine, derives partly from sheer misfortune.

In recent months Yugoslavia has been cursed with the worst drought in recorded history. As the crops have withered in the fields, the peasants, in desperation, have begun to slaughter their cattle—the sure prelude to catastrophe.

The crisis also derives, of course, from the airtight blockade imposed by the Kremlin. Most of Yugoslavia's traditional trading area is in Eastern Europe. Ever since Tito's declaration of independence, the Kremlin's blockade has been slowly sapping the Yugoslav economy, while Tito has searched largely in vain for the needed economic lifeline in the West.

To these economic pressures have been added political and above all military pressures. Now the Russian satellites are believed, both in Washington and Belgrade, to be capable at least of overrunning the Belgrade plains.

Although Tito could and would continue the fight almost indefinitely in the mountains, this slow shift in the power balance has immensely augmented the pressures on the Tito regime.

Tito himself suggested one meaning to the West of the collapse of his regime, in a recent conversation with an American.

"Mr. Churchill says that it would take 60 divisions to defend Europe if the Russians attacked," said Tito. "You might point out to Mr. Truman and Mr. Acheson that I have 32 divisions. Moreover, if we are attacked, my divisions will fight."

GREATER BLOW

The defection of Tito has been, indeed, purely in terms of military power, a greater blow to the Kremlin than the loss of the Kremlin's Korean satellite.

The mere survival of Tito's regime, however, is not enough. It is in the vital American interest not only that Tito should survive, but that he should succeed, at least by comparison with the Soviet satellite states, and that he should be strong.

An independent Communist regime, hostile to the Kremlin, working with the West, which was strong, and which gave its people a higher standard of living than the Soviet satellites, could have a shattering effect on the whole structure of Soviet power, in Asia as well as in Europe.

Travel Diary

By I. NORMAN SMITH

Associate Editor of The Ottawa Journal
BASRA—Iraq brings you to Basra all of a sudden. A straight line of green shows up, as seen from the plane, and behind it fields of date palms. The fields, irrigated by the spreading Euphrates river, are as a green carpet laid upon the brown mud. And at the edge of the field is a desert and even sharper demarcation than the edge of a Canadian corn field and a highway. Basra, with luck, I will not come back to. As we stepped from the plane the heat of the sun was 130 degrees. "Oh, but it is a dry heat," they said. In the shade it was 106 degrees. I've never been hot before in my life.

The people of Basra are Arabs and speak Arabic not Persian. They live on dates, both for income and food. "They eat dates for breakfast, lunch and dinner," said an R.A.F. man disgustedly.

A look around the town shows houses of a type but just outside the town the dwellings are mud huts. To irrigate the palm fields are frequent and parallel ditches, and the living on the ridges in between is a mean proposition indeed.

Out in the muddy Euphrates are moored ocean-going ships and great barges with heavy sails. Basra is Iraq's port, its second city to Baghdad which is the capital and has a population of more than a million.

WIDE RANGE

Around the hotel I asked a dozen or more boys, clerks, porters, for population figures. It was interesting that they ranged, for Basra, from 10,000 to 350,000. The difference was not owing to language difficulties. They just didn't know. This kind of lack of education out here one gets accustomed to.

A very grand looking customs official will handle a pen as though he had just met it yesterday.

He stares at it proudly, is fascinated by what he can produce with it. We must get away from Basra, leaving the facts and figures of its oil and date business for someone else. In fact, leave the whole city for someone else. This is the place to which you must come to take that mythical job someone might offer you a million a year to do. No siree, not for two million.

REALLY HOT

Well, I gathered myself into several gallons of perspiration contained in one wet suit and set out on the tarmac again to walk to the plane. You couldn't look at the sun even through glasses. Fierce. And they say it comes to 130 degrees in the shade when it is really hot.

The plane lifted (narrowly, I thought) over the field buildings and away we set, heading down river to the Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean. The mouth of the Euphrates is a vast "mucky mess" of mud and water but the sun was setting and throwing over all a tender pinkish coverlet in relief from the stark light we'd seen all afternoon. I'd like to do a bit of setting myself about now, but the stewardesses are bustling about with dinner and if I've learned anything on this trip so far it is always to take a meal when it presents itself.

After all, Karachi is still a thousand miles away, not due until 1 a.m. and we know now that these ever-roaring engines do cease roaring. And then—back to Basra! Oh God! Stewardess, my dinner please.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"THIS," said the Elevator Man, "is the age of samples. Everybody wants to 'taste a bit before you buy.' The old spirit of plunking your money down and taking a chance on your own judgment has largely died out. Nowadays we want a sip of this and a bit of that before we buy the full bottle or the whole cake. Manufacturers, of course, have been quick to get in on the deal. There must be millions of dollars spent each year in making, packaging and distributing samples—almost enough, in fact, to allow quite a lowering of prices if they'd do away with the custom. But nobody seems to see it that way, unless it's the mailman who arrives loaded with bits of breakfast food, scraps of cloth, samples of soap and other miniature offerings. Girls outside of confectionery stores will even chase you down the street with samples. When the banks start doing that I'll be right in line. Going up!

"It reminds me," said the Elevator Man, "of the story of the young boxer who was brought into court on a charge of assault and battery. For an hour the plaintiff's lawyer badgered and browbeat him, and finally the boxer admitted he'd given the victim 'a little push.' 'A little push, eh,' says the lawyer. 'Show the court just how hard you pushed him.' The exasperated boxer wound up and knocked the lawyer out cold. 'Your honor,' he says, turning to the judge. 'I pushed the plaintiff about one-tenth as hard as that.' Lower main!

"It isn't often," said the Elevator Man, "that the sample turns out to be bigger than the real thing. But there's many a time in life when it might well be. Instead of being generous in little bits at a time why don't we be generous all the time and live the real thing? Why be friendly just now and then, like handing out samples of what we could be if we wanted? Why give out decency only in trial sizes? It's time we closed off the advertising campaign and started delivering the real goods."

Character Building, Value To Nation Of Sea Cadets Stressed At Banquet

"Seamanship teaches many lessons in character as well as the fundamentals of common sense in boats," said R. C. Stephenson, co-ordinator of Sea Cadet activities in Canada at a banquet held Saturday night in the Empress Hotel.

Sea Cadet officers, naval officers and members of the Navy League were present.

Courtesy, resourcefulness and respect for religions are among the countless other moral lessons received in sea training, he added.

Canada has only one per cent of the world's population but is rated second among the world's "surplus countries."

THE HOME GARDEN

Easy Way To Divide Clumps Of Perennials

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Gardeners divide their clumps of perennials in many ways, and some make quite a chore of what should be a simple job.

After digging the old clump, I have seen them attack it with an axe, or a spade wielded as an axe. This procedure usually knocks off a quantity of young shoots which should have been carefully saved for replanting.

Another common method is to drive in the point of a shovel and then jump on it, only to find out that the division has no roots attached.

There is no need to go to all this trouble and exertion. The first step is to study the clump carefully and decide where the divisions are to be made. Then place two ordinary digging forks back to back and press them into the clump at the required spot. By prying the forks gently apart, the division is separated and its roots pulled from the mass intact.

When replanting the divisions prepare the soil well, because the plants will remain there for a few years. Plenty of good compost is in order, and a handful of bonemeal should be mixed with the soil below the roots. This is a slow acting fertilizer which will be partly available when spring growth starts.

When I suggest bonemeal, I mean just that—bonemeal! Last year I gave this advice to a gardener who was starting a new garden. This spring much of the material had been winter killed because he used bloodmeal, which he had on hand, instead of bonemeal.

Bloodmeal, or dried blood, is straight nitrogen (12-0-0) which is immediately available, and this had forced growth when the plants should have been dormant for the winter.

The main content of bonemeal is phosphoric acid (3-23-0) in a form which is very slow acting. It is quite safe to use when transplanting in the fall, and unlike some of the other fertilizer ingredients it does not burn the roots and plants.

City Police Issue Warning To Merchants On Sale Of Halloween Firecrackers

Deputy Chief of Police Harry Mercer warned merchants today that sale of fireworks for Halloween Night is prohibited until Oct. 24 and that no one under the age of 16 may purchase them.

Police are prepared to cope with any trouble which might occur. All available off-shift men will be on duty on motor cycles in prow cars and on foot throughout the city.

The deputy chief said the police will be severe in cases where pranks turn into acts of wilful damage.

Offenders throwing fireworks in mail boxes will be heavily penalized. Deputy chief Mercer appealed to mothers and fathers to prevent children making home-made bombs, reminding them of serious accidents which have occurred in the past.

Strong Points Of Red Army Studied

Man For Man, Fire Power Exceeds U.S. But Russians Display Less Mobility

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Russia's Army packs more fire power than the U.S. Army—man for man. Russia has the best tank and the best self-propelled big gun in the world.

These are the admissions of the U.S. Army itself—what American troops in Germany are taught. The estimates are based on detailed reports.

In its analysis of these reports, the U.S. Army pulls no punches, but offers this consolation:

The Soviet army pays a high price for its heavy fire power. It loses staying power, balance and mobility. A U.S. division can maintain itself in combat longer, move faster, and keep better communications.

The U.S. Army recently announced a big increase in the fire power of its infantry division. But apparently the new Soviet rifle division still outguns it, on a man-for-man basis.

Although it contains only 60 per cent as many men as the U.S. infantry division—11,000 Russians to 18,000 Americans—the Russian rifle division is credited with having 75 per cent of the shock power of its larger U.S. counterpart.

The Soviet mechanized division has about 13,000 men, yet it is called roughly comparable in fire power to the U.S. armored division of 16,000 men. So is the Soviet tank division of 10,300 men.

The Russians gain this impressive punch partly by sacrificing service units and other personnel not essential to actual combat.

Other points in the army appraisal:

The U.S. has no match for the 51-ton Russian tank, the Joseph Stalin III, with its 122-millimetre gun and its heavy armor. The biggest American tank, the 46-ton Pershing, carries only a 90-mm. gun.

900 Island Teachers To Hold Convention Here In November

More than 900 teachers from all Vancouver Island schools will meet in Victoria Nov. 2, 3 and 4 for a discussion of common problems and exchange of ideas, the local convention committee announced today.

Two of the featured speakers will be Roderick Haig-Brown, Campbell River novelist and naturalist, and Dr. J. M. Ewing, principal of Victoria College.

Designed as a means of "in service" training, the convention, fourth held by the island teachers, will include many sectional meetings to allow each teacher a chance to attend discussions on subjects in his own field.

Meetings will be held in Victoria High School, with William

Reid, Esquimalt High School, acting as chairman for the convention.

On the social side of the convention will be a luncheon Nov. 3, and a dance and entertainment at the Crystal Garden.

Gay Yellow Coats For Statesmen?

The day is come when cabinet ministers appear in yellow jackets and green ties, says distinguished Canadian author Hugh MacLennan in an article in the current issue of The Oval, company magazine of Canadian Industries Ltd.

Mr. MacLennan reports Canadian people are at last learning to look at gay colors without fear or shame. He heralds this as good news.

With respect to the high government men, he said it was about time they brightened their attire and stopped dressing "like undertakers."

Forum Speakers Agree Labor Must Consider Needs Of People As A Whole

The organized labor movement, while it has attained major success in recent years for its own cause, has still a long way to go in reaching its ultimate goal, and must, in making further advances, take greater cognizance of the needs of people as a whole. This was the general conclusion of three Victoria speakers taking part in a Sunday forum on "Trade Unions in Modern Society." The two-hour discussion was the second in a weekly series to be presented at the C.C.F. Hall, 3700 Douglas Street.

Taking part were Mrs. A. P. Rayment, informed on the history of the labor movement; Robert Smeal, president of the Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.), and Frank Snowsall, independent speaker filling in as panel member as no representative of management could be found.

It was agreed by the forum labor unions today were powerful and important bodies. It was further agreed such power could be used and increased to benefit not only union people but society as a whole.

Mrs. Rayment, in opening remarks, traced the development of modern labor unions.

She said the fight of toilers to a fair share of what they produced had been characterized by violence, bloodshed, imprisonment and cruelty.

HOW UNIONS BEGAN

When factory work began and men, women and children found themselves having to work 16 hours a day under appalling conditions for a pittance of pay, the need was seen for an organization of workers themselves to protest. So began unions.

In this century, she pointed out, the labor movement has reached a stage where it has formed governments in some countries. She made particular reference to Britain and expressed the feeling labor in Canada had not kept pace with the mother country in the political field.

Mr. Smeal, dealing with operation and plans of unions today, said a strong organized labor movement in any country was a bulwark for protecting freedom. He said unions were the greatest enemies of dictators. He agreed that no longer could unions concern themselves solely with union affairs. He said the time had come for union men to look about them; learn more, and take a more active part in the democratic social order.

Failed In Search For Killer Whale

Anxious to learn of routes followed by whales in their submarine travels, museum director Dr. Clifford Carl made a day's fruitless trip in waters off the city to photograph an albino whale.

The albino, nicknamed Alice, is a killer whale spotted around Vancouver Island from time to time.

She was seen off Trial Island Friday afternoon by Capt. Dale Johnson of the fisheries vessel Egret Plume II, based at Nanaimo, but en route to the inner harbor.

Fisheries Department representatives here passed on the information to Dr. Carl who went to the area in a Transport Department launch.

But Alice had sounded and disappeared.

"Politics," he said, "is not a game to be played by professionals alone."

He said labor realized the state and well-being of people depended upon economic order. He said there was no such order today.

"We still have homeless and jobless citizens; we still have depressions. There is not economic security."

"Inflation is an unwanted guest in our house; old age is becoming a nightmare."

Mr. Snowsall thought there should be more co-operation between workers and management. He said he deemed it wrong for there to be class distinction. He felt employees and employers should be recognized as equals in present-day enterprise.

"Exploitation is the past, has given unions an inferiority complex," he thought. "They fail to take pride in the fact that they are just as big a cog in the wheel of enterprise as the boss."

Labor, he said, was no longer a minority group. It was a power in the world. With power, he reminded, came responsibility.

He hoped labor was awakening to its responsibilities, and that it would shoulder them and work even harder for improving modern society.

Says Canadian Books Important To Culture

Canadian books are widely known and read and hold a definite place in the cultural life of a community, according to Miss Gwen Scott, who spoke to members of the Canadian Authors' Association, Victoria and islands branch, at its first meeting of the season.

A talk on modern poetry was given by Miss Eugenie Perry.

Mrs. Freda Davies, who recently returned from Great Britain, gave a brief talk, entitled "A New Look at England."

Most Body-Building Champions Once Underdeveloped, Says 'Y' Instructor

Most sports keep a person fit but bar-bell training increases muscular tissue and bodily strength as well as keeping one in condition, according to Ray Moody, bar-bell instructor at the Y.M.C.A.

"Bar-bell training should not be confused with weight lifting as weight lifting is a sport, while body building is more of a culture," he said.

Ray has been active in body-building for three years and has been instructing for two years at the "Y."

He scoffed at the belief most people have about body-building tending to make a man muscle-bound.

"Why the fastest time recorded at the last Olympics was the time it took a weight-lifter to make one specific lift," he remarked. Fifty per cent of the American team at the last Olympic Game meet participated in some form of body building he said.

Oddly enough most body-building champions start out as underdeveloped men.

NO NEED

"The reason is," said Ray, "most men who are well developed figure they do not need to build their bodies any more."

Another belief of many people is that once a person takes bar-bells up he has to keep at it or he will grow flabby quickly.

According to Ray this is not true.

Evidence Indicates Russia Has Revised Her Conquest Plans

NEW YORK (AP)—There is mounting evidence today that Russia, balked in Europe by recovery and in Korea and Formosa by American action, has revised her plan of campaign toward the Communist goal of world domination.

The Kremlin, if it can achieve its ends more cheaply, does not want general war. For the present at least, Russia seems to have pushed as close to war as she dares.

So the program in Europe appears to be: Lay low; await opportunities to test soft spots; harass governments and carry on persistent sabotage; but do nothing which might provoke world war.

Says Korea Clinches Case For Jet Force

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Chief of Staff of the United States Air Force believes the South Korea campaign has clinched the case for a jet air force.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg said in an interview that combat experience shows jet fighters will take more punishment from either air or ground fire than piston-engine fighters.

This contrasts with previous fears that the delicately-balanced gas-turbine engines might be put out of action.

Asia, on the other hand, is politically and economically unstable. Chaotic conditions present the ideal climate for Communist adventures.

The push now is on Indo-China. Control of Indo-China would open the way to extension of Soviet influence to all southeast Asia, Indonesia and the borders of India. This would be done by the exploitation of native nationalism, the seizure of revolutionary movements and the eventual overthrow of southeast Asia governments.

A survey of capitals in Europe and Asia indicates such a program. It fits in with the recent emergence of a new Soviet peace offensive—one which may be aimed at lulling the west into feeling so secure its arms program will bog down.

It has always been a Communist belief that capitalist countries would fall of their own accord. By constant prodding and wars of nerves, by jabs and retreats, by steady sabotage and harassment, the Communist high command may hope eventually to push the western world on the road to economic depression after causing it to over-extend itself.

THE COMMON BOND

They were a happy couple when they walked down the street in Mapleville, people smiled and said "Don't they look happy!" He wasn't making much money but he was ambitious, and a hard worker. They spent modestly, saved a little for the time when a young 'un would arrive. Then one day he got a raise. That was the day when he had to make a decision.

There were so many things they wanted, a house, a car, and the little luxuries that made life worth living. But Junior—they had to think of his future, too. That was what got them interested in Canada Savings Bonds. They were the ideal way to make that extra savings and they could be bought at the Branch of the Dominion Bank for cash, or... under a Monthly Savings plan... such a small amount each month, too... meant that they could start on a bond and still have some left over for themselves. So they kept adding to their savings... and bought themselves a

VIEWS OF SPORT

By RED SMITH

NEW YORK—Paul Richards, the new manager of the Chicago White Sox, is the kind of guy who will begin a sentence candidly. "I have hated against hundreds of pitchers and never terrified any but what I think is—". He is a lean, thoughtful gentleman and one of our mob, being winter sports editor of "The Wax-hatchie Light" down in his Texas home. The assignment to outguess Frank Lane, the White Sox general manager, is Richards' first job as a licensed sorcerer in the major leagues, but baseball students have considered him a stick-out for this kind of work for ever so many years. Although he is only 41, it is almost impossible to remember back to a time when Richards wasn't a familiar figure in the baseball picture. If you saw him catch once you couldn't forget him because of his curious stance behind the plate. He liked to squat with his left leg folded under him and his right sticking out stiffly toward first base, like one leg of a photographer's tripod. It seemed impossible to move quickly from this position, yet he was as mobile and deft and agile behind the plate as an man could be.

He Developed Newhouser

He operated also as a part-time coach and it was he who made a pitcher of Hal Newhouser, then a flighty, undisciplined youngster with great speed but no self-control. Richards taught Newhouser that before a kid could get along in the big leagues he had to learn to get along with himself and his playmates. There was one day, for example, when a utility infielder kicked a tough game away behind Newhouser in the ninth inning.

"I stood there on the mound," Newhouser related afterward, "thinking of the things Richards had told me and trying to get a hold of myself. I waited until I was sure I could go in the clubhouse and not show by a word or a sign how I was burning. Then I walked to my locker, took my shower, dressed and went out without speaking to anybody."

"I thought that for once I'd done right, but afterwards Richards told me I'd been exactly wrong. He said that what I thought was self-control just looked like bad temper to the others. He said didn't I realize the infielder felt worse than he. He said I should have slapped the infielder on the pants and said, 'Never mind, next time you'll win one for me,' or something like that."

His Players Like Him

As a manager, Richards must have had that gift of saying the right thing, because he was a hero to men whom he sweated unmercifully. Lum Harris, who pitched for him in Atlanta and later worked for Connie Mack, considered Richards the greatest manager he ever met. Yet Richards made what must have seemed unreasonable demands on his players.

Harris liked to tell of the season when Atlanta won the Southern Association pennant under Richards and met the Texas League champions in the Dixie Series. Although the Texas League representatives were favored, Atlanta swept the series in straight sets. During practice before the last game, the players were flabbergasted to hear an order that all pitchers save the one assigned to start the game and those named for bullpen duty get into the outfield and chase fungoes.

Atlanta needed only this one victory, which it got, and after that there'd be no place to go except home. Just the same, Richards chased them back and forth across the outfield until their tongues hung out. Getting 'em in shape for the winter.

Admiring his skill behind the plate, his aggressive approach to every game and his intelligent relations with the other members of the club, observers wondered why he was allowed to work out most of his playing life in the minors. They puzzled over his failure to stay with one of the several big league teams that tried him out in his youth.

He Once Lacked Hustle

If anyone had tried to tell them that this spirited competitor once was fired for lack of hustle, they wouldn't have believed it. He was, though.

Richards was considered a promising catcher in an early trial with the Athletics. One day when he was catching the enemy got the winning runs on the bases in a late inning. There was a decision at the plate which went against Philadelphia.

Richards hurled the ball to the ground. He plucked off his mask and threw it away. He flung his mitt into the dirt. Back to the diamond, he stood screaming imprecations at the umpire while enemy runners scampered joyously around the bases.

One might reason that he was displaying too much hustle here, overdoing aggressiveness. Connie Mack didn't see it that way. "Get the bum out of here," he said.

That night Richards was on a southbound train.

BLUE BOMBERS CINCH FIRST

Pair Of Upsets Throw Eastern League Into Wide Open Battle

The Big Four Football Union race is wide open today.

Toronto Argonauts, who appeared a few weeks ago to have the league all sewed up, fell apart Saturday, before the mighty wing line of Montreal Alouettes.

Alouettes' 24 to 16 win over Argos in Montreal and Hamilton's 32 to 0 drubbing of Ottawa Roughriders in Hamilton put the Tigercats and Argos in a first-place tie, a scant two points ahead of Ottawa and Montreal.

In the west, Winnipeg Blue Bombers are sure of first place in the Western Conference after a two-year absence. But they still have to win the playoffs before coming east for the Grey Cup final.

Winnipeg gained first position by beating Saskatchewan Roughriders 23 to 0. Edmonton Eskimos fell back to second place after a surprise 19 to 12 loss to Calgary Stampeders.

Toronto Balmy Beach won its second victory over Sarnia Imperials in the Ontario Senior Union 24 to 11, and then lost 12 to 11 to Windsor Rockets in Windsor Sunday, the Rockets' first win in six games.

McGill Redmen blasted Varsity Blues 25 to 0 in Toronto before 25,153 fans—largest crowd to see a game in Canada. That established McGill all alone in first place of the league. Varsity went into a second-place tie with Queens which defeated Western 13 to 7.

GREAT COMEBACK

Montreal's victory meant for other coaches grim memories of the Alouettes' performance last year when they got off to a feeble start and wound up with the Canadian championship.

For Argos, it meant the loss for the season of halfback Billy Bass who went off with an injured back. Coach Frank Clair said: "This injury, coming on top of the way we played, makes us definite underdogs in the league from here in."

Basketball Ruling Hits Local Clubs

A new ruling regarding intermediate A basketball players, adopted at Saturday's annual meeting of the B.C. association at Vancouver, will have disastrous results on several local teams in that division. New rule calls for intermediate A players to be under 20 years of age. Previously, these players had to be under 21.

It is understood the new ruling will all but wipe out the line-up of the local Elks entry.

For the first time period times have been set for the various divisions. Senior and intermediate A will play two 20-minute halves for men and four 10-minute quarters for women; intermediate B and junior men and women, four 8-minute quarters, and midget boys and girls, four 6-minute quarters.

Delegates to the meeting reinstated the players of the local Y.M.C.A. senior A men's club and reinstated the team name. Manager Denis Humphries and coach Art Chapman of the "Y" are still under suspension. They have been asked to appear before an executive committee meeting of the Vancouver Island Basketball Association at Nanaimo. Date of the meeting will be decided later.

Cotton's Eagle 3 Highlights Match

Playing over the Gorge Vale course for the first time, Bill Mawhinney, Canadian amateur champion, and George Cotton, Quilchena Club titleholder, both of Vancouver, defeated Bob Morrison, city champ, and Vic Lowe, home club champion, 3 and 2 in their 18-hole exhibition golf match Sunday.

An indication of the interest in the match was the gallery of 500 that followed the foursome. Gorge Vale officials have indicated they will arrange further exhibition matches featuring out-of-town players.

The visitors, after grabbing a 1 up margin on the first nine, were never headed. Mawhinney and Cotton each finished with 71s, the former having 37-34-71 and his partner 36-35-71. Lowe posted a 34-40-75, while Morrison was high man with 41-36-77. Far for the course is 36-36-72.

Feature shot of the exhibition was Cotton's eagle three on the 12th. The mainland shotmaker holed out a 50-yard mashie niblick and gave his side a 2 up margin. The previous hole was halved in birdie fours.

SEATTLE BUYS McLELAND

DALLAS (AP) — Wayne McLeland, 21-game pitching winner with Dallas of the Texas League last season, was sold today to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, Dallas general manager Bobby Goff announced.

Goff said the sale price was $10,000 and McLeland would report to Seattle in the spring.

Heaneys Trounce Duncan Eleven

Four quick goals in the second half of Sunday's junior soccer league match gave Heaneys' a well-earned 5 to 1 decision over Duncan Native Sons.

The transfermen gained a 1 to 0 lead in the first half, but superior play around the goalmouth gave them a clear edge in the second session. Goal-getters were Berlyn Hodges and Malcolm Preston with two apiece and Raymond Pottinger. Marten Modeste scored the lone Duncan tally.

FIGHT DRAW

DORTMUND, Germany (AP) — A rugged young German boxer fought West German heavy-weight champion Hein Ten Hoff to a draw Sunday.

Heinz Neuhaus, 24-year-old newcomer to the ring, had the champion bleeding and tired at the end of the 12-round match.

Adanacs Deadlock Lacrosse Series

Pogue, Proctor Outstanding In Two-Goal Victory

TORONTO (CP)—With the Mann Cup lacrosse series all tied up, New Westminster Adanacs are starting to live up to those nice things Coach Bob Lee said about them after they dropped the first two games.

The western champions, clicking smoothly as a unit all the way, yesterday squared the best-of-seven Canadian final at two games each by overpowering Owen Sound Crescents 7 to 5.

Thus the British Columbians lived up to Lee's predictions early in the series that his charges were bound to cut loose some time and that they were capable of playing a better game.

The Adanacs started to click last Friday when they won their first game — the third of the series — 13 to 9.

In yesterday's match, played before a Maple Leaf Garden crowd of 4,775, the Adanacs continued their dashing play by racing into a 3 to 1 first-quarter lead, and the champions of the Ontario Lacrosse Association never could catch up.

Owen Sound, winners of the first two games on cagy defensive play, were met by a new Gordon Pogue in the Adanacs nets. The goal's work was only so-so in the early games, but yesterday he turned in his best display of the series.

Also outstanding in the western win was Jake Proctor, a rearguard who scored three goals.

Russ Slater, 150-pound forward, scored four goals for Owen Sound.

The fans howled about the refereeing as the eastern champions got four penalties to one for New Westminster in the rugged game. But coach Doug Gillespie of Owen Sound said after the game that he was not going to complain or ask for new officials for the fifth game Wednesday.

In the New Westminster dressing room, Lee said his Adanacs got no breaks from referees Joe Murphy of Toronto and Max Peart of Port Colborne.

"They (Owen Sound) had an extra man on the floor for two minutes," Lee declared. "When one of their men returned from serving a penalty, they had two extra men on. I kept shouting at the referee but he didn't pay any attention to me."

Fifth game of the series will be played Wednesday. All games are in Toronto.

Army Continues Victory Streak In U.S. Football

Michigan Gives Cadets Real Score; Irish Extended

NEW YORK (AP)—Army's hard-hitting legions lived up to their No. 1 national ranking by crushing Michigan Saturday 27 to 6, but one major upset dented college football's top 10.

Purdue, which felled mighty Notre Dame a week ago, bowed to underdog University of Miami (Fla.) 20 to 14. A twisting half-back named Frank Smith got off two dazzling runs to smear the Boilermakers, No. 9 in the Associated Press roll.

Notre Dame's Irish, who tumbled to 10th after their loss, failed again Saturday to reach their former awesome heights and barely squeezed past Tulane at New Orleans 13 to 9.

Outplayed in the line, the Irish managed to prevail on Bob Williams' short, sharp passing. A crowd of 76,000 saw the game.

In the other big game of the day, Oklahoma extended its winning streak to 24 games by squeezing out a last-minute 14-to-13 victory over unbeaten and favored Texas.

This game, played as the first half of a day-night doubleheader in Dallas' Cotton Bowl, matched the third and fourth-ranking teams in the United States.

In the night game, Southern Methodist, ranked No. 2 in the United States, smothered Oklahoma A. and M. 56 to 0 for its fourth straight victory.

Southern Methodist gained 254 yards on the ground and another 219 in the air. The losers got a mere 47 rushing and 55 on passes.

At New York's Yankee Stadium, Army was stunned at the start by a quick Michigan touchdown and held to 6 to 6 at half time, but the black knights unleashed three touchdowns within five minutes in the last two quarters to make the game a rout.

Fred Shero Joins Cincinnati Club

CINCINNATI (AP) — Coach King Clancy of Cincinnati Mohawks of the American Hockey League announced Sunday night that defenceman Fred Shero of New York Rangers will join the A.H.L. team.

He said that Cincinnati has lent veteran centre Wally Stefanin to New Haven for the remainder of the season to make room for Shero.

Penalties Galore As Canadiens Win

Tempers are flaring early in the young National Hockey League season, judging from the action last night in Boston—whose teams down through the years have been noted for their ruggedness.

A crowd of 10,894 fans saw the wildest ruckus in Boston Gardens hockey history as Montreal Canadiens edged the Bruins 2 to 1 and vaulted into undisputed possession of first place.

Action also was rugged in Detroit, where the champion Red Wings blew a 4 to 1 lead over Toronto Maple Leafs, who staged a third-period blitz which netted them three goals within four minutes to end in a 4 to 4 tie.

In other weekend games, New York Rangers spoiled Chicago Black Hawks' home opener by recording their first triumph, 3 to 2, Sunday; Canadiens and Boston tied 1 to 1 in Montreal and the Hawks won 2 to 1 from the Leafs in Toronto Saturday.

Maurice (The Rocket) Richard scored both Montreal goals in Boston. It was just after he'd rapped in the clincher that Habitués' Cal Mackay started the Donnybrook by booting little Kenny Smith of Boston.

Johnny Peirson, who scored the home Bruin counter in the third period, went to Smith's rescue, and soon three pairs of rival players were clawing and punching at one another.

BOUCHARD FINED

Penalties were imposed wholesale on officials restored order. Six players—three from each team—drew majors, Boston defenseman Eddie Reigel, a 10-minute misconduct, and captain Butch Bouchard of Canadiens a match misconduct plus an automatic $50 fine.

At Detroit, the Wings appeared headed for their second straight victory when 11,726 stunned spectators saw their defence crumble before the Leafs' withering late drive.

Rookie goalie Terry Sawchuk had a nightmare four minutes in the Detroit net when Joe Kivulak started the Leafs' big rally by potting their second goal at 6:24 of the third period.

Fleming Mackell added another nine seconds later and Max Bentley tied the score. Defenceman Gus Mortson had counted for the Leafs in the opening period. Gordie Howe, Leo Reise, Sir Abel and Marty Pavelich scored for Detroit.

A short fist fight by the Wings' Ted Lindsay and Toronto's Bill Barilko highlighted the action.

Goalie Turk Broda of the Leafs suffered a cut over his right eye early in the game and three stitches were needed to close it.

A disputed goal by Don Raleigh late in the third period at Chicago gave the Rangers their first victory of the season, spoiling after they had picked up a win and a tie on the road.

Rangy Vic Stasiuk shot the Hawks into the lead early in the first period, rapping in his second major league score on assists from Pat Lundy and Hugh Coffin. Jack McLeod got the equalizer for Rangers in the third. Ed Slivinski tied it again, setting the stage for Raleigh's effort.

Lindsay-Howe Leaders In N.H.L. Scoring

Detroit's Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe today stand atop the National Hockey League's point parade with one goal and three assists each.

Tied for second place with three points are Maurice Richard, Montreal; Max Bentley, Toronto; and Roy Conacher, Chicago.

In third spot with two points are 15 point-getters: Gus Mortson, Toronto; Marty Pavelich and Syd Abel, Detroit; Kenny Mosdell, Elmer Lach and Glen Harmon, Montreal; Johnny Peirson, Boston; Vic Stasiuk, Bill Gadsby, Doug Bentley and Adam Brown, Chicago; Buddy O'Connor, Frank Eddolls, Alex Kaleta and Don Raleigh, New York.

RETAIN BROOCHES

Miss Dorothy Herbertson and Miss Shirley Fry retained possession of the E. D. Todd women's brooches at Gorge Vale Sunday against challengers Mrs. I. McIntyre and Mrs. F. Pateron, also of Gorge Vale. The winning pair gained the decision on the 19th hole.

A special plane flew Dr. E. M. Botterell, a Toronto specialist, to Crumlin airport near London, Ont. Provincial police cruisers escorted Dr. Botterell to Sarnia.

Charge Follows Long Taxi Ride

A man was charged in city police court Friday with hiring a taxi for a trip to Alberni and not having the money to pay for it.
Accused is Leslie V. Doman, no fixed address. He elected trial before Magistrate H. C. Hall and pleaded not guilty. His request for a remand to Tuesday in order to subpoena a woman witness was granted.
Doman is alleged to have incurred a debt for a taxi hire to Alberni by unlawfully obtaining credit under false pretenses by the false statement he had $40 in his physical possession.

One-Man Charge Fails

Johnny Bell Has Broken Neck

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—A specialist in spinal surgery was rushed from Toronto to attend Johnny Bell, 24-year-old Sarnia Imperial quarterback injured in an O.R.F.U. football game Saturday. Hospital officials said Bell's neck is broken and he is partially paralyzed.

Bell was carried from the field in the last quarter of the game with Balm Beach after he tackled Carl Galbreath of Beaches. A few minutes before, Bell had thrown a touchdown pass.
A special plane flew Dr. E. M. Botterell, a Toronto specialist, to Crumlin airport near London, Ont. Provincial police cruisers escorted Dr. Botterell to Sarnia.

Royals Bolster Football Lead

Paced by Art Hughes with three goals New Westminster Royals defeated North Shore 5 to 1 Saturday to bolster their hold on first place in the Pacific Coast Football League. In a second match on the mainland Vancouver City tied 1 to 1 with St. Andrews.
Royals now enjoy a three-point bulge over runner-up Vancouver City. Shores and St. Andrews are deadlocked for third place, one point back.

Canadiens Will Ship Out Replacements To Cougars

Victoria Cougars will get replacements from the parent Montreal Canadiens for defenseman Morley MacNeill and winger Lorne Davis. Frank Selke, general manager of the Canadiens, will be in touch with owner Lester Patrick by long-distance telephone some time today to complete arrangements. Saturday the Cougars decided to return MacNeill and Davis to the Canadiens while they were still eligible to return to amateur hockey.

The two players left for Montreal Sunday afternoon and it is possible they will play for the senior Royals in the Quebec city. Royals are backed by the N.H.L. outfit.

Additional help for the Cougars may also come from within the league. While attending a meeting in Seattle today Patrick will attempt to complete a deal of two at present hanging fire.

HIGHTON PLAYS WELL

Sparked by the goaltending of Hec Highton, who came up with 35 saves, Cougars displayed a lot of fight Saturday-night to the Tacoma Rockets at Tacoma 2 to 2. Last season the Cougars dropped six straight games on Tacoma ice, three of them by lopsided scores.

'Pop' Keeler, Golf Scribe, Passes Away

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—O. B. (Pop) Keeler, dean of American golf writers and the equal of any character of whom he ever wrote, died Sunday. He was 68.

Keeler spent more than 41 years in harness as a reporter, most of it in sports and a good portion of that covering the career of grand slam golfer Bobby Jones. Every time Jones appeared in a major tournament, Keeler was there.

Two magazine pieces that netted $15 started Keeler on his career.

After that success he wrote Percy Whiting, sports editor of the old Atlanta Georgian, that he would come to work for nothing a week and furnish his own typewriter. Oscar Bane Keeler was hired.

That was in 1908. Since then, Keeler has covered 67 major and U.S. golf tournaments and scored some major beats. He was the first to get a golf interview with the Prince of Wales. The same year, 1930, he became the first trans-Atlantic sportscaster with a broadcast of the British Open golf championship.

He was made president of the Golf Writers' Association of America and in 1926 Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, made "Pop" an honorary lifetime AP staff member.

sensitive power for the Cougars. Dorohoy gave the Victoria club a 1 to 0 lead early in the first period with Mazur getting credit for the assist. Doug Adam tied it up just over a minute later and Norm Gustavsen put the home club ahead at the six-minute mark. It was not until 9:19 of the second period that Mazur took a pass from Dorohoy and tied the score. For the remainder of the game the clubs played it close to the belt.

Over at New Westminster the Royals came to life to set down Seattle 5 to 2. It was the first defeat of the season for the Ironmen. The affair was penalty ridden with 15 being called including a major to defenseman Denny Huddleston.

New Westminster Royals went on a grand scoring spree last night to blast Portland 11 to 4 and move into a tie with the Eagles for first place. Hat trick performances were turned in by Dutch Evers, Clayton Lavell and Normie Kirk.

More Germans Wanted

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Immigration Minister Harris said Sunday he hopes many more Germans will come to Canada. "They are often the most frugal, the best citizens and the most prosperous," he said in an address at the annual New Citizens' Day, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Kitchener-Waterloo Council of Friendship.

Sinatra To Commute Between TV In East, Ava In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Exclusively Yours:

Frank Sinatra—the two-thirds that's left of him—will commute between New York and Hollywood this winter. TV in New York and Ava Gardner in Hollywood... John Barrymore, Jr., and former actress Betty Avery say it's love... The Alan Laddes are steaming over that brawl between a blonde model and her boy friend at their ranch home. They opened the place to 800 guests for a charity event and wound up the scapegoats... There's a bitter court fight looming in the Dan Daileys' divorce. Both, I hear, will seek full-time custody of their young son.

Robert Q. Lewis' definition of a Hollywood playboy:

"A guy who, when his psychiatrist tells him to settle down and take a wife, wonders whose wife to take."

Phyllis Avery, who's to Don Taylor in private life what Liz Taylor was to him in "Father of the Bride," makes her film debut in "Queen for a Day." There's a "don't-try-to-stop-me" look in her eyes as she says:

"I took time out from my acting career to marry Don and have two babies. Now I'm serious about my career again and Don thinks it's fine."

SCHNOZ NIXES TV BAN

George Jessel's producer contract at Fox now contains a no-television clause. But M.G.M. couldn't talk Jimmy Durante into the same deal. His co-starring role with Mickey Rooney in "The Strip" will be his swan song as an M.G.M. contract star. He told me:

"It's da only way I could get on TV."

Jimmy's television debut is set for Oct. 25 in New York—"I'm excited and no," he shrugs.

Shelley Winters, Betty Garrett and Larry Parks caught the mood of the peppy Hollywood Foreign Correspondents Association's monthly luncheon at Lucey's. Betty, introduced as

"Miss Betty Garrett," quipped: "In my present condition (she has a date with the stork in March) I would rather be known as Mrs. Larry Parks."

Shelley, explaining why she cancelled her trip to Europe this summer, blamed her studio. "They told me: 'Shelley, you stay home from Europe. There's enough trouble over there.'"

Larry was asked his reaction to Jolson's voice coming out of his mouth.

"Well," he said, "I sang in several B musicals at Columbia and personally I like Jolson's voice much better."

Terrorists Kill Five

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

"We have a bidding problem," writes a Chicago correspondent. "My partner and I should have bid three no-trump on this hand but played the hand instead at four spades. Against that contract West took two clubs to begin with and two trump tricks later on. Nine tricks at no-trump would have been, of course, an absolute cinch.

"South said he could not bid no-trump with an uncertain stopper in clubs, particularly when his five-card major suit had been raised. My own clubs (I was North) were even weaker, so I certainly couldn't bid no-trump. Is there a logical way of getting to three no-trump on this hand?"

There is indeed a logical way to get to three no-trump. When North raises to two spades, South should wait courteously for East to pass. Then South should open his mouth, should say "Three no-trump," and should close his mouth quietly but firmly. While doing so, he should avoid biting his tongue or swallowing any false teeth.

SOUTH NOT SURE

Mind you, South is not sure that three no-trump is the best final contract. However, his own hand gives him no reason to suppose that four spades is better than three no-trump. When South bids three no-trump, there is still the possibility that his partner will, with an unbalanced hand, bid four spades. But after South has bid four spades there is no longer any possibility of going back to three no-trump. In other words South should not make a final decision when he has no real way of deciding and when he can give his partner a choice.

All of this, however, is secondary to the main problem. How did South manage to go down at four spades?

Suppose West begins by taking his top clubs (the best defense). At the third trick he might lead a heart (as good as anything). South wins and should lead a low trump in order to finesse dummy's jack.

GUARD AGAINST BREAK

After dummy wins the trump finesse with the jack, declarer should not dream of cashing the ace of spades at once. South knows that West has the king of spades, but he doesn't know where the ten and seven of spades are. His job is to guard against a bad trump break. South should get back to his hand with a diamond and lead the eight of spades wins. If West plays low, dummy plays low, and Naturally, South doesn't know that his eight of spades will win a trick if he lets it ride. However, if East can win the second round of spades with the ten, West will be left with the blank king—which can be taken later by dummy's ace. Hence South will lose only one trump trick even in this case.

Victoria Flying Club Shares Retraining Plan For Veteran Pilots Of World War II

OTTAWA (CP)—The R.C.A.F. today launched a new air training program designed to produce 600 trained pilots a year to provide a pool of qualified fliers in the event of war.

The plan will give Canada's veteran pilots of the Second World War a chance to fly again. They will be given free, 40-hour refresher courses at the expense of the R.C.A.F. and through the facilities of Royal Canadian Flying Clubs across the country, including Victoria.

The system may be later expanded to produce an even greater number of "refreshed" fliers who would be used as flying instructors and staff pilots in an emergency. Should war come, they would go on to a jet plane training course to fit themselves for modern air warfare instruction.

The scheme was launched today at the Ottawa Flying Club at Ottawa's Uplands Airport. Later other clubs across Canada will take up the plan with 37 new Canadian-designed and built De Havilland Chipmunk trainers.

At the inaugural ceremony Air Vice-Marshal F. R. Miller, air member for operations and training of the R.C.A.F., told the first class of pilots that "nothing invites war more in this day and age than unpreparedness."

The R.C.A.F. is accepting Second World War pilots up to the age of 32 for the refresher course. Training will be carried out at flying clubs in Ottawa, Windsor, Montreal, Winnipeg, Regina, Hamilton, Edmonton, Calgary, London, Ont.; Toronto, Vancouver, Fort William, Moncton, N.B.; Brantford, Ont., and Victoria.

DEWEY WILL NOT RUN IN 1952; WILL BACK GEN. EISENHOWER

NEW YORK (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey today said he will not run for President of the United States in 1952 and will back Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination. "Under no circumstance that I can conceive," he said, "will I accept the nomination for President in 1952, and I doubt if there is any possibility the situation would arise thereafter."

East German Reds Claim 97% Vote In Election

Despite Polling Under Guns, U.S. Leaders Say 90% Of People Oppose Soviet Rule

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN (AP)—Pledged to unswerving loyalty to Moscow, Red leaders were swept back into office by more than 97 per cent of the voters at Sunday's election, it was officially announced today.

The unopposed triumph of the Communist-led "National Front" made secure politically a Russian bastion in the centre of Europe that only war or internal Russian revolt might conceivably destroy.

It was engineered by the most fantastic German voting since Hitler claimed 100 per cent endorsement for his Nazi Reichstag in 1936.

Russia's 20 occupation divisions were on the alert and 195,000 Communist-offered German police stood guard to assure unopposed victory.

But nowhere in the Soviet zone, as about 13,000,000 citizens virtually goose-stepped to the polls, was there a single verified case of resistance.

Even the western powers dropped their anti-vote campaign, fearful of police terror against East Germans who attempted to dissent.

"Deceive your deceivers—vote for the National Front" was the despairing counsel beamed to the Soviet zone populace by the official U.S. radio station.

The capitulation was complete. Among those who obeyed the Communist order to cast open, unmarked ballots on which appeared only the Red parliamentary list, were thousands of Protestant pastors and Roman Catholic priests and nuns.

Like automations, the East German masses paraded past the election boxes, dropping in unfolded scraps of paper which sealed their political fate.

American-sponsored German broadcaster asserted today that in actuality "90 per cent of the East Germans are enemies of the Red police state."

Sent to Indo-China where reverses suffered in Indo-China has been Gen. Alphonse Juin, one of France's most famous soldiers. He will direct campaign against Red Viet Minh forces. Former chief of staff for National defence, Gen. Juin was President-General of French Morocco when order was issued. (SNS Photo)

Social Creditors Want Daylight Saving Ended

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Lyle Wicks was re-elected president of the British Columbia Social Credit League at the close of its two-day annual convention here Saturday.

The meeting, attended by 100 delegates from all parts of the province, amended—then approved a resolution increasing the membership of its board of directors from five to seven.

Vice-presidents elected at the meeting were: Peer V. Paynter, Vancouver; Jacy Tyler, Haney; Mrs. Frank Tucker, Cloverdale; Hugh Shantz, Vernon; T. Mc-

Gibbon, Vancouver, and G. A. Bryand, New Westminster.

A resolution approved supports the single transferable ballot in both federal and provincial elections.

Also approved were resolutions demanding the government take immediate steps to make provision for schooling mentally deficient children, and asking the provincial and federal governments to make larger contributions towards building schools without further taxation.

Rural delegates provided most of the support for a resolution from Delta asking daylight saving time be abolished in B.C. The resolution passed on division.

A resolution asking federal activities be given precedence over provincial activities was defeated.

Brantford Store Robbed Of $10,000

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Loot estimated at $10,000 mainly in cash, was taken Saturday night by safe robbers. It was the biggest haul in Brantford's history.

Police said no trace of the robbers has been found.

HUGE TIE-UP AT NEW SPAN

TACOMA (AP)—Probably the worst traffic jam ever in this section of the state developed Sunday on the Tacoma-Bremerton highway.

The state patrol reported cars lined up single file as far as Purdy, seven or eight miles from the west end of the new Tacoma Narrows Bridge.

The new $18,000,000 suspension structure, dedicated only Saturday, is a four-lane bridge with six toll gates.

This smart new unit, a '50 Chevrolet, has just been added to the fleet of the Island Farms Dairy, delivered by Wilson Motors Ltd., local Chevrolet dealers. A. W. Williams, sales manager of Island Farms, stated that a large percentage of the Island Farms fleet is made up of Chevrolet trucks for the popular unit has proved itself time and again in economy, dependability and convenience. Country runs under gruelling conditions, city deliveries with continual stops and starts, these test a truck to the utmost and Chevrolet has proved itself in service for the Island Farms Dairy as elsewhere.

Hunters Fined For Infractions

Five hunters got penalties from Magistrate A. I. Thomas in R.C.M.P. court Friday afternoon for infractions of the Game Act.

For having loaded firearms in a vehicle, Dick Lam, Chinese, of 1021 Pandora Avenue, was fined $25 and $3 costs.

Ralph Brakstad, Esquimalt Dockyard, was caught by a game warden with an untaged deer. That cost him $15 and $3 costs. Louis Parsons, 3212 Maple Street, was fined the same as Lam for the same offence.

Ronald Simmons, 805 Mary Street, was fined $10 and $3 costs for having no firearms license. The same penalty was imposed against Robert Balfour, Naval Dockyard, for shooting a willow grouse out of season.

All were charged by Game Wardens Robert Sinclair and Robert Marshall.

Impressive Ceremony For St. Mary's Chancel

Bishop H. Sexton lays cornerstone to St. Mary's Chancel. From left: Arch-deacon A. Nunns, G. Morris, Walter Luney, Edward Howe and the Bishop.

Bishop Lays Cornerstone For Memorial

More than 600 gathered before morning service at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, Sunday to watch Bishop Harold E. Sexton officiate at the laying of a cornerstone to the Memorial Chancel.

Following the hymn and exhortation, Edward Howe, stonemason, dropped the stone in place, which was then tapped with a mallet by His Lordship. "In the faith of Jesus Christ, we place this stone in the name of God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Ghost, Amen," he said in the blessing.

He was assisted by Archdeacon A. E. deL. Nunns, rector of St. Mary's.

Just as the old wooden building had to go to be replaced by something more progressive, so must the church in Canada go forward carrying its message, His Lordship said during the morning sermon in the church.

The stone inscribed with the Latin phrase meaning "To the greater glory of God," was laid in commemoration of the men and women who died during the two world wars.

"We expect the new addition to be completed in about five weeks," said Archdeacon Nunns today.

BELEATED MEDALS

TALL, FRIENDLY

Jackson Dodds Proud Of 115,000 Boy Scouts

A tall, kindly man with white thatched hair who will soon be 70 was in Victoria today to see how some of his boys are getting along.

Jackson Dodds, O.B.E., has boys in big cities and small towns all across the country. His boys are Boy Scouts. They number 115,000.

As Deputy Chief Scout of Canada, he makes a cross-country trip once every two years to find out for himself just how they are getting along. When he finds out, he returns to the east and reports to the Chief Scout, Governor-General Viscount Alexander.

In an interview today at the Empress Hotel, Mr. Dodds in his quiet way emphasized the importance of scouting in the present-day world.

TO FIGHT ISMS

"I am convinced," he said, "that if we are going to fight all these isms—and fight them we must—then scouting is the best way to begin."

Throughout the world, there are now 5,000,000 youngsters proudly wearing the uniform of the Boy Scouts. The simple paths they take to serve God and to help others, are the same in all countries.

Mr. Dodds was quick to dispel any suggestion that scouting was "sissy stuff."

"Scouting is not easy. It is a wonderful adventure. A boy has to have what it takes."

ADVENTURE INTO WILDS CUT SHORT FOR 2 BOYS

Plan of two runaway Vancouver boys armed with rifles to live off the country in the wilds of Vancouver Island was nipped in the bud during the week-end.

The boys are only 13 and 16 years of age, and Lionel Dickson of Dickson Bros. Garage thought it rather strange to see two so young carrying rifles. He called the police.

Police report the youths, in addition to the rifles, had three boxes of ammunition, a compass, mess tins, hunting knives and four blankets.

They identified themselves. A check with Vancouver police revealed they had run away from their homes. At the request of their parents, the boys were placed on the Vancouver boat, with the rifles and ammunition left in charge of the pursuer.

Prolonged Tait Case Ends In Two Fines Total, $60

Mrs. May F. Tait, Hibbets Close Cadboro Bay, was fined a total of $60 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today on two charges laid following an accident on Fort Street, near Richmond Road, July 11.

Found guilty of failing to remain at the scene of an accident, Mrs. Tait was fined $35. Ernest L. Tait, her lawyer husband, pleaded guilty for his wife, to the charge of failing to tender a written report of an accident to police within 24 hours. The fine for this was $25.

The default in payment of fines was 10 days. Mr. Tait said he would pay the fine.

Appeal Court will sit on Nov. 6 on the application of Mr. Tait to quash the conviction against his wife on the charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Charges were laid after 16-year-old Donald Benister was injured. His bicycle struck the car door partly opened by Mrs. Tait, and he was thrown to the road, according to the evidence.

Mr. Tait's application that the written report charge be adjourned until after the ruling of the Appeal Court on the other was denied.

now participating in the world-wide movement constitute the greatest number of Scouts in this country's history. Ontario has more scouts than any other province but British Columbia is next.

"Since the war, the biggest increase has been in B.C. The committee responsible is, indeed, a good one. It has set a fine example for the rest of Canada to follow."

Mr. Dodds, former general manager of the Bank of Montreal, addressed a meeting of clergymen today at the Union Club. Before leaving the island, he will visit scouts at Duncan, Nanaimo and Qualicum.

Fingerprinting Of Everybody Urged

One Of Resolutions Scheduled For Young Liberals' Convention

Fingerprinting of the entire population for use in the event of an emergency will be sought in a resolution of the Victoria County Young Liberal Association, at the bi-annual convention of the B.C. Young Liberal Association at Harrison Hot Springs Friday and Saturday.

Ron Worley, president of the Victoria unit will head a delegation of 12.

"There is a possibility that the question of the position of the coalition government may be brought up by mainland delegates," Mr. Worley said.

Chief among resolutions to be considered is one asking that the federal government handle civil defence. Revisions will be asked in the hospital Insurance Act and also revision of the divorce laws.

TRANSFERABLE VOTE

"The convention will seek the single transferable vote and discuss the position of public utilities," Mr. Worley said.

In the Victoria delegation are: James J. Proudfoot, H. K. Bate, Donald Anderson, J. Donald Smith, David Sloan, Robert Patrick, Mrs. B. Marshall, Mrs. V. Proudfoot, Miss C. Shaw and Mrs. A. Anderson. Among island delegates are J. Coates and Clyde Elford from Cowichan-Newcastle.

All the Liberal cabinet ministers and a number of private members are expected to attend the convention as well as Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew.

Complaint Filed On Car Storage

Complaint that he could not store his car overnight near the wharf but would have to take it up to the centre of town, was made by J. B. Clearhue, K.C., in a letter received at City Hall today.

He referred to the recently-passed by-law covering hours of sale for garages and service stations and said it seemed ridiculous that Victoria "should have no place where cars can be stored."

DIES IN 90TH YEAR

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Hayward's Funeral Chapel for Mrs. Eliza Noel, 1066 Finlayson Street, who died Saturday in St. Joseph's Hospital at 90 years of age.

Born in Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, she came to Victoria in 1912.

OWES $1,400 TO HIS WIFE

Claude L. Harrison in city police court today said that in one Deserted Wives Maintenance Act case a husband was $1,400 in arrears in payments ordered by a separation agreement.

A warrant for his arrest was ordered when he failed to appear.

Former Seaman On Stand In Hold-up Case

Sharp words flew between Crown counsel R. A. Wootton and defence counsel A. P. Dawe in Assize Court today over the cross-examination of John Hingley, one of the trio accused in the June 24 armed robbery of the Goldstream Inn.

Mr. Dawe protested that the prosecutor was confusing the witness by asking him evasive questions. "He should ask Hingley direct questions," he said.

"I am," replied the prosecutor. "But the witness does not appear to be able to remember the evidence he gave in court Friday."

WAS QUESTIONED CLOSELY

Hingley, a short bespectacled former seaman, was questioned closely when he was cross-examined with regard to his friendship with Stewart Robertson, alleged leader to the trio. On Friday he testified that he knew Robertson about nine months ago. Under cross-examination he admitted having met him in Cape Town, South Africa.

Hingley is the second accused called by the defence to testify with regard to the hold-up of the hotel where nearly $15,000 was stolen. He and Wilfred Hutchison have claimed that the hold-up was "a sham" arranged between Stewart Robertson and Ralph Calladine, hotel proprietor.

Victoria Housewives Happy As Law Says Margarine Here To Stay

Housewives are happy that the Privy Council has upheld a Supreme Court ruling that sale of margarine in Canada is a matter of provincial jurisdiction.

Various women's organizations spearheaded the move to make sale, manufacture and distribution of the butter substitute legal.

When the provincial Legislature took the step a year and a half ago, following the Supreme Court decision that it was up to the province to decide, the women had won their fight.

Now that the Privy Council has announced it sees eye to eye with the Supreme Court on the question, the advocates of margarine feel even more secure in their success.

"We definitely feel that there is a place in our day-to-day living for margarine and there would appear little doubt that it is here to stay," commented Mrs. Agnes Perry, president of the Local Council of Women.

Margarine helped "spin out" the meagre income of old-age pensioners and persons with large families in the lower wage brackets.

"MOST GOOD FOR MOST PEOPLE"

"We sympathize with the farmers who make butter, but the competitive margarine does the most good for the most people," Mrs. Perry said.

There was no comment from a legal standpoint from the provincial government. It took no stand on the question when it was being aired in the courts.

A provincial agriculture department spokesman said the Privy Council ruling would have no effect on the sale of margarine in B.C.

"It's established now and I guess it will stay," he said.

The farmers weren't going to like the ruling but "you've got a large industrial population to think of, too."

Vancouver Island farmers are not affected because they do not make butter (except for a few on Salt Spring Island and some around Duncan. The great majority are fluid milk shippers.

Monkeys And Puppy Dogs Captures Youngster's Heart

By PENNY SAVER

"Oh, daddy buy me one of those!" piped up a little curly-headed girl, who was standing beside me at the store counter this morning. Although she was a mite young to be using that well-known phrase, for a woman, I'd say she was on the right track. "Those," for which the excited youngster had expressed a desire, were none other than a new shipment of pyjama cases. The likes of which I've never seen.

Monkeys and puppy dogs to capture your heart, as well as $7.98, out of your change purse. But then, as the little tot in question pointed out... very tactfully, I thought, like a sledgehammer that is... the little "doggy" would hold her pyjamas during the day then could snuggle up with her, come bedtime. This kid definitely had an angle!

Poor pop, was standing there smiling as nonchalantly as possible at the clerk, trying furiously to think of a way out of the web, when I intervened. I asked the clerk if she would mind showing me the English-made animals and the "why-fors" of the beasties.

Well, she brought out a monkey... if he wasn't straight from a palm tree, I don't know who would be... slid open the zipper, placed in his short cropped wool back, to reveal a luxurious quilted lining. The same silk lining was to be found in all the animals... complete with great soulful-eyed spaniels. Colors were black and whites, browns, yellows, and all whites.

As I left the counter to continue my amblings, I saw the father of the child succumb to monkey's mischievous life-like charm and pay the sum entailed.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Girl, 18, Only Child, Says Parents Make Scene If Anything Done Without Consent

Dear Mary Haworth: I am a girl 18 and an only child. My parents expect adult behavior and wisdom of me, and say they are glad when I do things on my own. Yet if I venture to do even the most trivial things without consulting or wheeling them, we have a scene.

I am my father's darling as long as my desires or opinions don't conflict with his; then I am a mere inexperienced child. When we differ he recognizes no appeal based on logic or simple justice. The only possible approach is simpering, pleading, sweetness. As a child I almost worshipped him, but now I see that much of the quality I once admired as strength is simple unreasoning intolerance. He has a blind, raging temper when aroused, but I must admit he seldom displays it.

Mother is most of my problem. She nags day in and day out, and I must say, without going into detail, that I feel she is becoming a bit neurotic. She feels so strangely about some things that it's hard to believe she was once a girl herself. I don't even like to make up my face when she's in sight. I am always doing it wrong; she always knows best. When I do my utmost to please her, and ignore my own wishes entirely, there is usually peace; but I can't pay that price indefinitely.

SELF-RELIANCE
STIRS IN GIRL

I feel inside of me that I am almost adult; that I can do things I don't even realize. Yet my parents are always there, directing, commanding, demanding what they call "respect," so that I feel utterly deprived of individual freedom of action. There is a good deal of friction between my parents, as well as between mother and me; and I know dad often sympathizes with me, but to do him justice, he sides with mother for the sake of peace.

To sum up my trouble, I feel unhappy, dependent and helpless. I know the solution of everyone's problem lies within himself; but please try to help me to understand myself.

LIFE ALWAYS POSES PROBLEMS

Dear R. R.: Why do you say that "the solution of everyone's problems lies within himself"? It were more correct to say that the solution of everyone's problems is to be found in living, if at all; and that the solution is never-ending, in the sense that so long as there is life, there are difficulties to be dealt with.

Now, speaking of understanding yourself, an undertaking in which you ask help, it seems to me that the entity known as "self" is the increasing sum of one's living experience. Thus it is a large order to "know thyself," and hardly possible for another to provide this knowledge for you.

Apparently you have the notion that self-understanding is the antidote to trouble, or a magic way out of it. But that isn't necessarily so. For example, a prisoner in a concentration camp might understand himself well, in terms of recollection and insight, and he might fully recognize the injustice of his predicament, and yet be unable to physically free himself. His captors might have the authority, in the circumstances, to keep him under thwarting surveillance and control. And your problems, of unwilling subjection to overly protective parents who lack wisdom in human relations, seems roughly comparable to that hypothetical situation.

PROFITABLE USAGE OF UNDERSTANDING

Problems are solved by suitable action, not by aggrieved philosophizing about them. The constructive purpose of self-understanding is to establish habitual awareness of spontaneous impulses, feelings and tendencies, so that one may be freed from blind bondage to them, and thus give reason the controlling vote in determining what course to take.

Inasmuch as your problem has to do with frustration imposed by unreasonable parents, the solution will have to wait until you are grown up by conventional standards. When you've reached the age to be self-supporting, when your formal schooling is finished and you've attained legal majority, you will have society's sanction in standing on your own feet and doing things sensibly your own way, even though your parents may fight against it. In the meantime, strive for patience in accommodating their peculiarities.

Gideon Ladies Meet Here On Week-end

Lady members, Victoria Camp, Gideons International, were hostesses Saturday at a luncheon in Oak Bay Beach Hotel to honor wives of Gideons attending sixth annual Pacific Northwest conference in Victoria. Mrs. Harold Allen, Victoria, left, presented greetings and introduced guests; Mrs. Herbert Ross, Seattle, second from the right, presided at the meeting following the luncheon. Pictured with them, left to right, are Mrs. D. F. Rice, Rossland; Mrs. Travers Williams, Portland, and Mrs. H. Fred Bishop, Port Angeles.

Auxiliaries' representatives from Washington and Oregon states, Vancouver and Rossland reported on work, which includes presentation of Testaments to nurses. Victoria group presented 125 Testaments to nurses at Royal Jubilee Hospital in the past year, while Portland, in the same time, presented more than 4,000. Mrs. Hugh Coldridge, wife of western Canadian secretary, Gideon International, was guest speaker, and Mrs. R. G. Grieve, captain Victoria Auxiliary, closed the gathering with prayer.

Abbotsford
Newlyweds Honored

A surprise social evening was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tabor, 2638 Belmont Avenue to honor Mr. and Mrs. Mun Hope, who were married recently at Aldergrove, B.C.

Mr. H. L. Hopkins read a Bible message, and Mr. Bill Lambert presented the couple with a gift. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. F. Baker of Courtenay, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Price, Mr. and Mrs. N. Hawes, Mesdames D. Morris, M. Lambert, J. Allan, Misses Grace Tabor, Ruth Tabor, Gwen Oliver, Agnes Wallace, and Messrs. E. Davis, J. Tang, B. Tang, Stan Oliver, D. Grice, Bob Morris, H. L. Hopkins and W. S. Hope.

Further honoring the newlyweds, approximately 205 friends gathered at a reception in Aldergrove Community Hall, Aldergrove, B.C. Guests included friends from Washington. New Westminster, Burnaby, Abbotsford and Mission. Greetings were sent from friends in this city where Mr. Hope attended Victoria High School and Victoria College.

Mr. and Mrs. Hope will make their home in Abbotsford.

Sherlock and his bride, the former Dulcie-Anne Steinhardt, daughter of Mrs. Steinhardt and the late Laurence Steinhardt, former United States Ambassador to Canada, are spending a few days in Victoria, guests at Empress Hotel. Fit. Lt. Sherlock is an aide-de-camp to Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor-General of Canada.

The John Beckwiths Sailing For France

Sailing for France from New York are John Beckwith and his bride, the former Pamela Terry, both of this city.

The young couple, married Friday morning in Hart House Chapel, Toronto, will spend a year or so in Paris where Mr. Beckwith will study musical composition with Nadia Boulanger. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kingsley Terry, Rutland Road, Uplands.

Among guests at the quiet ceremony were parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, who left this city late in September on a six-week holiday in eastern Canada and United States. Immediately after the ceremony, the senior Beckwiths flew to New York, and from there will continue their trip by plane to Jacksonville, Florida, across southern states, stopping at New Orleans and in Riverside, California.

Mr. J. Baines Lewis has returned to his home in Saanich after spending the summer in Europe.

Mrs. Basil Darling entertained Sunday afternoon at a small party in honor of Mr. George Masters, administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital, and Mrs. Masters, formerly of Vancouver.

Miss Minnie Urry, motored from Hamilton, Ont., with Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Spence, Langford Lake, to visit her brother, Mr. Ernest Urry, "Rockholme", Leigh Road, Langford.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Walker have arrived from their hunting camp in northern British Columbia for a week's visit with Mrs. Walker's mother, Mrs. W. H. Bullock-Webster, 810 Foul Bay Road, prior to spending the winter at Qualicum Beach.

Miss May Harris, a November bride-elect, was honored recently when 14 friends gathered at the Fernwood Road home of Mrs. J. Mullen, to surprise her with a miscellaneous shower. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Phyllis Mundy and Miss Bunnie Mullen. Corsage bouquets were presented to Miss Harris, and Mrs. P. McKee, mother of the groom-elect. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. E. Naylor and Miss Mary Brooks. Guests included Mrs. E. Naylor, Mrs. Jean Kidd, Mrs. J. Mullen, Misses Mary Brooks, Madeleine Langley, Colleen Morris, Gladys Carson, Betty Randall and Lorraine Mitchell.

Honoring Miss Olive M. Adams, whose marriage to Mr. Gordon C. Rolis takes place in the near future. Mrs. A. J. Brown, mother of the groom-elect, held a shower at the home of Mrs. J. R. Graham, 3338 Whittier Avenue. Little Larry Travis presented corsage bouquets to the guest of honor, to her mother, Mrs. J. Adams, and to Mrs. Brown. Gifts were placed in a miniature green transfer truck. A lace cloth covered the tea table, centred with a miniature bride, flanked with flowers and white candles in silver holders. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. W. Bray, Mrs. J. Adams, Mrs. H. Clough, Miss M. Atkinson. Other guests were Mesdames J. R. Graham, A. Travis, J. McManua, R. Mottershead, G. Beale, M. Coles, G. Jones, C. Saddler, W. Saddler, Miss M. Limer, and little Larry Travis.

St. John's Evening Branch Women's Auxiliary, guild room, Tuesday; Mrs. Brown will speak on recent trip to England.

Mrs. Clarence Wallace, second from right, received a Colonial bouquet of spicy chrysanthemums at the ceremony marking opening of the exhibition of Queen Mary's carpet in the studio at T. Eaton Co. Ltd. this morning. Mrs. L. B. Smart, Toronto, left, who is travelling with carpet, was given a corsage bouquet of red rosebuds. The corsage is being passed to Mrs. C. L. Bishop, who made the presentations, by Mrs. H. D. Parizeau. Red-coated mountie in background was one of a guard of honor. Following the ceremony a small coffee party was held in the dining-room to honor Mrs. Wallace.

Showing Of Queen Mary's Carpet Today By Lieutenant-Governor's Wife

By ELIZABETH FORBES

The peach and green studio salon of T. Eaton Co. Ltd., with its ruby red drapes and crystal chandeliers was setting this morning for opening ceremonies of a three-day exhibition of Queen Mary's carpet.

Mrs. Clarence Wallace, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, in a few gracious words, declared the showing opened. She was accompanied by Miss Ruth MacLean.

The carpet, framed with deep blue velvet drapes and tall white baskets of deep red, yellow and parchment orange chrysanthemums was placed so the light from many windows fall full upon it, bringing out the delicate blending of colors and exquisite floral designs. Redcoated mounties stood on guard before the display.

Showing is sponsored by Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire and the carpet will be placed on display in many cities and towns across Canada in order that the Canadian public may have an opportunity to contribute to a fund that will allow the Queen's needlework to remain in Canada.

FOR CANADIANS

Mrs. L. B. Smart, Toronto, vice-president, National Chapter, I.O.D.E., who is traveling with the famed carpet, states emphatically, "The I.O.D.E. is sponsoring the fund, but when the minimum amount of $100,000 is contributed and the carpet is presented to the National Gallery at Ottawa, it will be the Canadian people who have made the gift."

Mrs. C. L. Bishop, regent, Victoria Municipal Chapter, assisted Mrs. Smart in receiving

Susan Wallace Makes Debut

Little Susan Wallace, small granddaughter of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace, accompanied the Government House party to the exhibition of Queen Mary's carpet this morning and stood quietly with Miss Ruth MacLean while Mrs. Wallace made the address which declared the showing opened.

In her first public appearance in Victoria, little Susan was wearing an autumn brown wool coat styled on Princess lines, and trimmed with round brown velvet collar. Peaked jockey cap, gloves and gaiters were en tone.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wallace, Vancouver.

Donna Salmon Attractive In Gleaming Satin For Marriage To Bill Turner

Lace-enriched satin fashioned the lovely fitted gown in gleaming white worn by Donna Margaret Salmon, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. C. Salmon, 873 Swan Street, for her wedding Saturday evening to William C. Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Turner, Sayward Road, Elk Lake.

Profusions of chrysanthemums in vivid fall hues were placed in Fairfield United Church for the service conducted by Rev. William Allan.

bertha-like decollete of the wedding gown; sleeves were lily point, and the voluminous skirt ruffled at the hemline to reveal rows of ruffled lace. She wore a heart-shaped headdress on her dark hair crowning her chapel veil, and carried a horseshoe bouquet of scarlet roses, white carnations and stephanotis.

Her trio of attendants were in pastel taffeta gowns, with lace mitts and headdresses repeating the lovely tones. Miss Jean Fraser, groomed in azure blue taffeta, had matching chapel veil adorned with lily of the valley, and carried chrysanthemums in harmonizing tones.

Miss Helene Turner, sister of the groom, and Miss Juene Dallen were bridesmaids in pink and green respectively. Their chapel veils were en tone and they held chrysanthemums in their arms.

Roddy Turner, brother of the groom was best man. Sidney Salmon and Jim Turner, brothers of the newlyweds, were ushers.

Miss Turner, sister of the groom, sang "The Day of Golden Promise," accompanied by Mrs. Willard Ireland.

Guests were welcomed in Loughheed's Banquet Hall where a three-tier cake was cut by the newlyweds. B. J. Unwin, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast.

Mrs. Salmon, frocked in soft grey, with accessories repeating the theme, and Mrs. Turner in chocolate brown crepe, with blue accessories, assisted in greeting guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner will make their home at Elk Lake.

Assist In Plans For Autumn Bridge And Tea

Left to right, Mrs. A. Geoffrey Reid, in charge of home cooking; Mrs. J. D. Maltman, tea convener, and Mrs. G. Rose, bridge convener, members of a committee in charge of arrangements for the annual bridge and tea sponsored by St. Joseph's

Tips On Preparing Foods On Grill In One Room, Helpful And Tasty

If home to you means "one room with grill privileges" then a few tips on how to prepare small quantities of food tastefully should prove helpful.

Health and welfare department officials say that even for working people keeping house alone can be easy and interesting. A little thought given to planning can make the preparation of varied, nutritious meals a pleasant hobby as well as an aid to health and vitality.

A double-boiler is the first "must" in every miniature kitchen. A pressure cooker also is invaluable as a time and fuel saver.

Here are a few cooking hints which may prove useful:

Always remember that too high a temperature shrinks meat. Tougher cuts may be cooked slowly in tomato juice, canned tomatoes or water. Make gravy with the liquid later.

When frying meat, cook in a hot uncovered frying pan with fat. Sear on both sides and turn frequently.

FISH

Fish may be served several ways.

To fry: Roll in flour or cracker crumbs; fry on both sides in well-greased pan. It's cooked when it flakes.

To boil: Wrap in parchment paper, tie with string and boil in salted water. Allow five minutes a pound for fillets; eight to 10 minutes a pound for thick fish. Serve with a lemon wedge or white sauce with chopped hard-cooked eggs.

Left-over fish may be served creamed in white sauce; added to mashed potato and fried as fish-cakes; or used in salads.

VEGETABLES

Many left-over vegetables may be browned in the frying pan, creamed, or served with cheese sauce. Left-over beets may be pickled in vinegar.

V.O.N. MEMBER PROMOTED

OTTAWA (CP) — Miss Esther Robertson, veteran member of the Victorian Order of Nurses, has been promoted to the position of an assistant to the national superintendent, it has been announced.

Miss Robertson, native of Wetaskiwin, Alta., joined the order 14 years ago. During the last five years she has been superintendent of the V.O.N. western region.

In her new role, Miss Robertson will be one of three assistants to the national superintendent, Miss Christine Livingston.

New Nursery School

AGINCOURT, Ont., (CP) — The boys outnumber the girls, three to one, in one co-ed school here, but the lasses don't seem to appreciate the fact.

The school is a nursery group and the boys and girls are three and four years of age.

The Agincourt Nursery School opened 5 and is flourishing, helped by the co-operation of Knox United Church, and guided by a teacher who came out of retirement.

No attempt is made to teach subjects covered in kindergartens where the customary age is five. The 24 express themselves with crayons and water colors, blocks and beads, simplified jig-saw puzzles and other constructive accessories.

"Most of all," says Mrs. Mel Winterton, one of the two founders, "we're teaching the children how to get along with others. The progress they made in a week was amazing."

All money received from the school is used to pay the teacher and buy equipment and fresh orange juice for the mid-morning recess. No attempt is made to show a profit. Though held in co-operation with the United Church, the school also embraces members of the Anglican and Presbyterian faiths.

Young Adults' Club

A "Young Adults' Club," was formed at First United Church recently when Bud Buchanan was named president. Other officers are: Peggy McPherson, vice-president; Margaret Morrison, secretary; Bill Nicolson, treasurer; Brian Johnston, program; Hugh Harvey, social and sports; Kathy Evans, music; Joan Davies, phoning; Dot Freeman, refreshments.

Meetings are held Wednesday at 7.45 in the young peoples' room at the church, Miss Marjory Forrest, 934 Green Street, Garden 5083, is in charge of the membership committee.

Want your gravy nice and dark?—just sprinkle a teaspoon of sugar in the roasting pan or the frying pan... that's if your searing the meat before roasting it. Let the sugar melt—then sear meat in the melted sugar and proceed as usual. When the roast is done the gravy is dark and has that added tang you want.

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

Penny Sale—Plans were made at a meeting of Alden Hamber Chapter, I.O.D.E., for the new project to be undertaken jointly with Navy League Chapter, in the form of a huge penny sale on Nov. 30, Dec. 1 and 2. The affair is being arranged as a novel show at J. M. Woods Motors, where a great variety of merchandise will be on display, all to be given away on the final night. A sum of $10 was voted for the I.O.D.E. Golden Jubilee Scholarship and $10 for high school bursary fund; donations of jam and fruit were received from members for the Orphanage.

Showers—More than three dozen useful articles and a substantial sum of money was received at a tea arranged by members of Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the Foul Bay Road home of Mrs. Murray Cameron, for child and family welfare work. Regent, Mrs. A. C. Nicholson, received guests, among whom were Mrs. J. L. Ford, Mrs. T. Lumsden and Mrs. Green of Municipal Chapter. Mrs. Harry Youson was soloist. During the afternoon, Mrs. W. C. Nichol presented the regent with the golden jubilee book of the I.O.D.E.

For Relief—Arrangements were made to purchase material for diapers to be sent in a parcel of clothing to Unitarian Services Relief, at a meeting of Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institutes. Mrs. D. Richards, reporting on Cub work, said $6.30 was realized at a candy stall; Mrs. E. Middleton gave a report on the South Vancouver Island conference and plans were made for a membership tea and sale of needlework and leathercraft, in Luxton Hall on Nov. 15. It was announced that catering for the fall fair luncheon and tea had realized $23 for the Institute.

Harvest Supper—Approximately $155 was realized at a harvest supper in St. Mark's Parish Hall. A musical program was held in the evening, and Dean G. R. Calvert was guest speaker.

Bazaar Shower—The home of Mrs. A. Jones, 629 Canteen Road, Esquimalt will be the scene of a shower Oct. 24 at 8 when articles will be made and donated by Ladies' Auxiliary to Britannia Branch, No. 7, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., for November bazaar. Mrs. W. G. Paterson, Edmonton, was a visitor at the auxiliary meeting with Mrs. D. McCulloch presiding. Mesdames M. Kerr, A. Keane and G. V. Neish were initiated. Mrs. D. Ree reported 484 sick visits made; Mrs. M. Wright, visits to seven shut-ins; Mrs. G. Wilson, layettes, stating that articles must be turned in by November meeting. Mrs. W. Sheret and Mrs. W. J. Pearson were named to keep fresh flowers on memorial tablet, and Miss M. Yonge and Mrs. E. Watson to attend legion funerals.

Applaud Conveners—Mrs. George Miles was named tea convener for a bazaar in Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Co., Nov. 2, sponsored by Camosun Chapter, I.O.D.E. Other conveners named at a chapter meeting with Mrs. A. Mainprize, regent, in the chair were Mrs. A. M. Florence, fancy work and miscellaneous; Mrs. F. D. McKechnie, home cooking. A rummage sale will be held Nov. 17 in Hard of Hearing Hall. Reports were given by Mrs. J. R. Campbell, Empire study convener, who chose "Our Canadian Way of Life" for her subject; Mrs. E. Edwards, who noted articles valued at $4.90 turned in to municipal headquarters; Mrs. A. M. Florence, who stated that usual donation of cookies was made to Victoria Nursing Home and that two quilts had also been given.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mother's are wont to say, "I'm happy when my child is normal. I don't want a genius." Their feeling is that superior children have difficulties which do not beset the average child who has friends of the same "average" calibre and goes to schools which are suited to him.

Mrs. P. N. wants to add her viewpoint about superior children. "Let me say," she writes, "that blessed is the mother who has a healthy, average child. Those who progress rapidly present problems. They can sit and talk so early that they may be expected to have toilet controls before they are ready for them. This was so in my daughter's case and I am happy to say your pamphlet on toilet training was very helpful to me. Also, they can reach toward an object before they can understand the concept 'no, no.' They run into the street before they comprehend its dangers."

"Even if all of these things are handled properly there is the problem of adults, (parents included) who always expect a child to live up to its age. This tends to make the advanced child feel inferior, because it cannot possibly be advanced in all respects. It does take a certain amount of living to attain growth."

"I wonder what will happen when these superior children grow up and begin to date? Are they going to be considered their physical or their mental age? Won't superior children be bored with children who are inferior mentally?"

"My little girl walked at eight months and talked at one year and I wish, for myself, that she would slow down a little. She is three and acts in all ways like a four-year-old. I wish the heads of parents of superior children would not be so swelled. It is the parents of average children who should count their blessings."

For the benefit of Mrs. A. L. G. (whose other questions I will be happy to answer in a personal letter), a reader and yourself may I explain my comments on this other child. She must be physically and mentally superior now in order to be capable of such performances.

But, this does not mean that a child who is slower to develop may not be as brilliant when grown. There is a great deviation in normal standards of development. A child might not walk until 18 months and still be a superior child mentally. But the truly backward child will be slow in all phases of development.

And no child should be pushed beyond his own limits. The pattern of his own development should be respected, being sure the parent gives the proper environment of good food and opportunity for exercise and the mental stimulation of love and attention. I did not intend to give the impression that only children who walked and talked early were superior. That would not be true.

Music Alumni, Church Groups Combine To Present Concert

Sponsored by Amica and Silver Stars, two women's auxiliary groups of Metropolitan United Church, the Victoria Chapter, Alumni Association, Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, will present a concert in the church on Nov. 29, commencing at 8.30. Proceeds will be used for a scholarship fund of the alumni and work of the auxiliaries.

Victoria branch of the alumni was formed in 1937 under the name of Toronto Conservatory, to further interests of the conservatory and for educational and social intercourse between members.

Present aims of the alumni association and its Victoria chapter has been to promote among its members a true fraternal feeling and a spirit of mutual helpfulness; to extend the interest of Toronto Conservatory of Music and to ensure permanency of its influence in the cultural life of the Dominion; to sponsor the establishment of a trust fund to be known as the "Marion Ferguson Foundation," purpose of the foundation being to assist worthy and deserving students through scholarships at the conservatory and to sponsor formation of local chapters across Canada.

At present Victoria Chapter is keenly interested in establishing a local scholarship to be awarded

Hints For Sewing Velvet, Velveteen

If you're sewing velvet or velveteen for the first time this fall, here are some hints.

First off, when cutting velvet, lay it on a smooth, flat surface with the pile side up... except when you're cutting on a fold. Then the velvet can be folded lengthwise with the pile inside.

To avoid injury in the pile, use long, fine needles in place of pins to fasten pattern pieces to the velvet. Make all pattern markings with tailor's tacks, using silk thread.

When assembling the pieces, use fine needles instead of pins. Short, even basting stitches with silk thread are recommended. Machine stitch with the nap. Light tension and long stitches—about 12 to the inch—are recommended. Inside seams, hidden by the pile, are best. Avoid outside stitching. Finish seams with overcasting or binding.

The concert, third in which members of the alumni chapter have appeared, will feature a trio number with Mrs. W. B. Milburn, organ; Mrs. Walter Eilers, violin, and Miss Isabelle Pike, vocalist. Also outstanding on the program will be Mrs. Stanley Tidbury who will play a movement from a Greig piano concerto, with Edgar Holloway at the organ.

Church Groups Plan Big Sale

A mammoth auction sale will be held in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, next Thursday commencing at 7 p.m. The affair, sponsored by all organizations of the church, is being given to augment funds for the new memorial chancel, corner stone of which is being laid by Bishop H. E. Sexton on Sunday.

Articles already donated for the sale include a heater, several stoves, jewelry, hand-painted pictures and etchings, good records, china, cut glass, Limoges china, electrical appliances, furniture, one-half ton of coal, Crown Derby cups and saucers, Willow Pattern plates, and winter supplies for the larger.

Rev. A. Cameron is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. F. E. L. Philp, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. H. Hamlet, Mrs. J. Harper, Misses V. Morley and G. Mears, Messrs. Smithson, J. A. Christensen, J. Collings and C. R. Holt.

Mrs. Smith Again Heads Liberal Forum

All officers were returned by acclamation at Liberal Women's Forum.

With Mrs. H. I. MacKenzie as chairman of nominating committee, the following officers were reelected: Mrs. T. C. Smith, president; Mrs. W. B. Mortimer, first vice-president; Mrs. L. A. Lucas, second vice-president; Mrs. N. Bertucci, recording secretary; Mrs. J. Slater, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Blair Reid, treasurer.

A resolution favoring return of registration cards was endorsed and will be forwarded to central executive of the Liberal Association.

Mrs. J. G. Ellis and Mrs. J. M. Ewing were welcomed as new members. Plans were made for a tea, sale of work and of home cooking, Nov. 23 at Liberal headquarters.

Following business, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, M.L.A., addressed members, giving a humorous and colorful picture of the Legislature behind the scenes.

Tea was served by Saanich members, with Mrs. E. T. Lea and Mrs. E. E. Bell presiding at the urns.

Dominion Officers At Sidney Meeting

Mrs. L. Milne, Vancouver, Dominion president; Mrs. M. Bennett, Dominion secretary, and Mrs. M. Carver, president, provincial command, Victoria, visited Ladies' Auxiliary No. 63, Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Sidney.

The Dominion president outlined work of the auxiliaries.

President Mrs. G. Goode was in the chair and 20 members attended. A Hallowe'en dance in the form of a masquerade, with 10 prizes for best costumes was planned.

Mrs. M. Bennett, Victoria, contest winner, received a set of three hand crocheted dollies, donated by Mrs. I. Bennett, Sidney. Next meeting will be Nov. 9.

Hitler's Feeling Of Guilt Barred Early Peace Pacts

New Book In Germany States He Shied At Quick Treaties With Conquered Nations

By MENNO DUERKSEN

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—Adolf Hitler's guilty conscience kept him from concluding separate peace treaties with France and other conquered nations long before the German collapse, one of his top officers asserts.

Adolf Heusinger, chief of army operations, in his book, "Command In Contradiction," says Hitler's generals advised the Fuehrer to make peace with conquered nations to make them more co-operative while Germany pursued the war against Russia and Britain.

Hitler replied he could not trust nations "he had milked dry of food."

"How can I promise these people anything when I am confiscating their last grain and cattle?" Heusinger quotes Hitler as saying.

DEAF TO GENERALS

The book deals with Hitler's refusal to listen to his generals and his iron-shod, stubborn method of running the war.

Heusinger said that in 1942 Hitler ordered all soldiers and officers of royal blood withdrawn from the front because "I never want it to be said by the royal families that they shed their blood for me."

Hitler refused to abide by the Geneva Convention in the treatment of Russian prisoners of war. He refused to allow German parents to be informed of the capture of their sons on the eastern front on the grounds "you can be sure that not a single one of our men will ever return from Russia alive," Heusinger said.

AGAINST LEGALITY

In a moment of weakness, Hitler revealed to his generals why he had taken all matters of legal justice out of their hands.

"People who are sensitive about points of legality can only hinder our cause," Hitler said, according to Heusinger.

Hitler added: "Just look at me. If justice had been carried out in 1923, I would never have been able to return to a political career."

German generals begged Hitler, with tears in their eyes, to withdraw the Sixth Army from Stalingrad, but he called his generals idiots for even suggesting it, Heusinger says.

Nazi Sub Victims Buried In France

BELL ISLAND, Nfld. (CP)—The bodies of three French sailors, killed when a German submarine sank their vessel near this east coast mining town Nov. 2, 1942, have been exhumed by order of the French government.

The remains of the three—Laurent Leometti, Maturin Leneve and Etienne Covesnon—will be buried in France.

The men were members of the crew of the Free French steamship P.L.M. 27, which was lying off Bell Island loaded with iron ore waiting sailing orders when she was torpedoed by the enemy submarine which had slipped unnoticed into the bay.

Although the sub was immediately engaged by shore batteries on Bell Island and by the R.C. A.F. based at Torbay Airport, near St. John's, the undersea craft managed to slip away safely.

NEW DRUGS USED

British Colonies See Health Improvement

LONDON (CP) — Recently developed drugs are expected to bring tropical diseases under control far more rapidly than could have been foreseen a few years ago. This forecast is made in the British government's annual report on colonial territories.

The report tells the story of striking improvements during the past decade in the health of those living in the colonies. Details are also given of economic developments which have produced better living standards.

The Colonial Office considers the improvement in health is due greatly to increased control of malaria. This has been assisted by the development of DDT.

For example, malarial mosquitoes have been completely eradicated from Cyprus, largely owing to repeated spraying with DDT during the last three years. Before the Second World War, there were 18,000 cases of malaria every year on the island; last year there were only 100 none of which were due to new infection.

Ninety-five per cent of the Kangaroo meat is not widely eaten in Australia except by natives, but there are recipes for kangaroo-tail soup.

Inhabitants of British Guiana are protected from malaria by similar means.

Cyprus is also notable for the fact that the death rate now is among the lowest in the world. Infantile mortality has also shown a spectacular decline; from 180 per 1,000 in 1940 to 70 last year.

NORTHERN PIPE DIFFICULTIES

Flin Flon Tackles Big Task Of Extending Services To All Homes

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—The people of this bustling mining town claim the place is like nothing else in the world. They're probably right.

The main section of Flin Flon, where older houses and most business premises are built, is perched on the hard-rock surface of the pre-Cambrian shield. Construction is a nightmare.

Sewer and water pipelines run above the ground—some of them over the heads of pedestrians—instead of being buried.

IN STORAGE

If you die in winter, your body goes into cold storage for burial in the spring when the ground thaws.

There are proportionately more children of pre-school and school age than in any other town of the same size in Canada.

But for all its oddities, Flin Flon (on the Saskatchewan-Manitoba border 400 miles north-west of Winnipeg) is going ahead.

The original above-ground sewer and water system was built in 1932 and services what now is only one-fifth of the town. Under way in suburban sections is a program to extend these services to the rest. Mayor Cyril Stevenson said the scheme will cost $1,315,000 "for a starter."

Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, lifeblood of the

STEEP SLANTS

The Flin Flon terrain is so hilly that some houses have a 30 to 50-foot difference between back and front yards. Others are perched on the rock with wooden stairways to the street.

Some residents can walk in their front door at ground level and look out their back door to a street 30 feet below.

Stairways are a big part of the Flin Flon sidewalk system. One winds up a hillside with almost 100 steps and several platforms.

pipes, packed with sawdust to prevent freezing in Flin Flon's severe winter, are used unofficially as sidewalks. But signs warn residents they navigate them at their own risk.

Typical of the odd location of the town is its baseball park. There is a natural grandstand—a huge rock outcropping at least 100 feet high which can accommodate a sizable crowd of spectators.

Able To Record Guns' Rate Of Fire

OTTAWA (BUP)—The National Research Council has developed a recording instrument to keep track of the rate of fire of aircraft machine guns.

The council said the recorder is being installed in airplanes by the division of mechanical engineering. It will let the pilot know if defects in his guns are slowing down the rate of fire.

Natives Clash

CAPETOWN (CP)—The South African government has appointed a commission to investigate trouble among natives in the Witwatersrand Reserve in the Orange Free State. The trouble arose over efforts by the authorities to control soil erosion and reduce livestock.

Fairbanks-Morse!"

"Since we installed our Fairbanks-Morse Oil Burner, Bill spends most of his time boasting about it to our friends, and I don't blame him. It's so quiet and has never given us a minute's trouble. I'm not mechanically minded, but I know why we can expect longer service, because I've heard Bill explain its construction features so many times. I know we're all set for really comfortable winters for a long, long time."

Nickel's working on the railroad?
Sure!

In the new diesel electric locomotives Nickel Steel gives greater strength with less weight. Steam locomotive boilers are made of Nickel Steel—tough, strong and durable at high temperatures.

Frames of modern locomotives and railway cars are made of Nickel Steel—stronger, lighter in weight. Springs and roller bearings are of tough, long-lasting Nickel Steel. Many modern trains are largely built of Stainless Steel, containing a high percentage of Nickel.

Back in the dining car kitchen those gleaming surfaces where food is handled are "Monel"—a sanitary, rust-proof, Nickel-Copper alloy.

Forty-three years of research have uncovered hundreds of uses for Nickel in the United States and other countries. Now Nickel exports bring in millions of U.S. dollars yearly. These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees in Canada and also help pay Canadian railwaymen, lumbermen, iron and steel workers and other men and women making supplies for the Nickel mines, smelters and refineries.

"RIGHT NOW" is the time to buy a new or used car. Steel shortages, more drastic than ever, are definitely declared to be the issue for 1951. Automobiles rate number one on the list of curtailed production. THAT MEANS HIGHER PRICES will follow. There is no alternative.
BUY NOW while prices and purchasing

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Colitis Aggravated
By Nervous Ailments

By EDWIN P. JORDAN

Unfortunately, colitis, which is the ordinary term that doctors now use for spastic colon, is one of the most difficult things to relieve completely.

Q—If colitis is not relieved by six months of diet and sedatives, is it advisable to resort to surgery?
Does it affect the back?—
P. D. R.

A—A spastic colon is affected by diet but is also closely related to the nervous system. Anger, worry, and things of that sort always make the condition worse, and perhaps this is the reason why you have not received relief.
Frequently some of the symptoms of a spastic colon are referred to the back.

Q—Is it all right to let a small baby cry and scream without paying any attention to it? Some people think it is good for their lungs. I believe some crying is all right but too much will hurt the baby.—Reader.

A—I agree with you. Too much crying in a small baby—particularly a boy—may lead to a rupture.
On the other hand, a baby should not be picked up every time it cries.

Q—Is penicillin now used to reduce the appetite in overweight persons?—N. F. P.

A—Not that I know of.

Q—I am 22 years old and for the last six years have had spots on my skin which do not tan with the rest of my body. What could this be?—J. B.

A—The most likely possibility is a skin condition called leuko-derma or vitiligo. This is not a serious disease but there is no accepted cure for it. There is a strong family tendency to the condition.

Q—Are vitamins helpful or harmful for one who has hypertension? Is it advisable or not for such a person to travel by airplane?—J. G.

A—Vitamins in normal amounts should be taken by a person with hypertension but there are no reasons to believe that excessive amounts would be either helpful or harmful. With regard to travel by airplane, a lot depends on the degree of high blood pressure. Also the altitude of flying and the use of pressurized cabins play a part in the decision. Since the question is an individual one, the patient with hypertension should consult his or her physician regarding any contemplated flight.

Q—The soles of my feet keep burning all the time. What causes this, and what can I do about it?
—Mrs. F. H.

A—The feet should be examined for ringworm or other infections, and for flat feet. There is also a possibility that the symptoms are caused by some nervous condition which will require an accurate diagnosis by your physician.

Q—My son's heart rate is 60 and rises to only 71 after exercise. He has not heart murmur, his blood pressure is normal, and he plays football. Does this indicate heart trouble?—Mrs.
L. T. S.

A—A slow pulse rate in a young athlete is more likely to be a good sign than a bad one.
Of course, he should not be allowed to overdo and he should be examined from time to time.
His doctor's advice regarding his activities should be closely followed.

Q—Is chewing ice favorable or damaging to a 4-year-old child's teeth?—Mrs. J. K.

A—I doubt that dentists would recommend it.

Q—Does dilating the pupils for examination injure the eyes in any way?—Reader.

A—No.

"Russia and Asia" will be the subject of an address to be given by Dr. James Saint Clair-Sobell, head of the department of Slavonic
Studies at U.B.C. to a Victoria University Extension audience tonight at 8.15 at Victoria College Normal School.

Executive of University Extension Association will hold open house following the lecture.

Only one in the series of lectures has been given to date with nine more to follow. The associa-

the college tonight.

The open house is being held to enable those interested in the series to meet one another and the association executive. Refreshments will be served.

Uncle Ray

NASHVILLE—This city in central Tennessee is called, at times, "The Athens of the South."
One reason is the fact it is a centre of learning. It is the home of Vanderbilt University and other colleges.

For years, there has been another reason to give Nashville such a name. A famous building like one in Athens, Greece, was put up there. This building is known as the Parthenon. Here the visitor can see what the ancient Parthenon looked like in the days of its glory.

Even Athens is without such a building today. The ancient Parthenon is in ruins. We can see many of its pillars, still standing in place, but they fail to give a complete idea of what the building used to look like.
To find out more clearly the form which the first Parthenon had, we can study the building in Nashville.

Various models of the Parthenon have been produced on a small scale, but the building at Nashville is different. People walk around inside it and look at the high ceiling.

How does Nashville happen to have such a building? To answer that question, we must go back 34 years, to a great "centennial fair." One of the fair buildings had the shape of the Parthenon of Athens.

Made chiefly with laths and ashes, that building was intended to last only one year. It was allowed to stand, however, after the other fair buildings were torn down.

A park was laid out around the building, a park containing about 150 acres of land. The lath-and-plaster Parthenon stood for almost 24 years, but it was largely a ruin when at last, it was removed from the park.

Before that happened, some citizens of Nashville had done a great deal of thinking. "Why not prepare a permanent building to reproduce the Parthenon of Athens?" they asked.

The idea took hold, and money was provided. Slowly but surely a new building rose, a solid Parthenon made largely with concrete. Excellent architects and sculptors joined in the work, and created a building which was like the original Parthenon.

The project took 11 years, and Nashville's Parthenon was opened to the public 19 years ago.

Dollar At New York

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar was up 3/16 of a cent at a discount of 5% per cent in terms of U.S. funds in foreign exchange dealings here this forenoon. The pound sterling was up 1/16 of a cent at

Aid Digestion

Pancreatin, produced from sweet-bread, will digest 25 times its own weight of proteins and starches.

Pepsin, a similar product, is capable of digesting, for example, 3,000 times its own weight of egg-white.

These two products have now been incorporated into a pleasant-tasting indigestion tablet offered by an English company.

Ayrton's Heartshape Tablets are stocked by all drug stores in handy tins of 40 tablets, retailing at 50c.
